

Cheering Throng Welcomes Candidate For Governor

Colonel Roosevelt Receives Warm Greeting in Kingston and Delivers an Address That Stirs Enthusiasm of the Crowd Which Gathered at Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Republican candidate for governor of the state, spoke to a crowd of about three thousand people on Pine Grove avenue, in front of the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon. On account of the lateness of the special train which brought Colonel Roosevelt from Newburgh the meeting scheduled for 1 o'clock did not start until 1:20 o'clock when it was called to order by John W. Eckert, secretary of the Republican county committee.

The speakers delivered their addresses from the floor of a huge auto truck which was decorated with American flags and surmounted by a large picture of Colonel Roosevelt. Long before the hour slated for the outdoor meeting the crowds began to gather on Pine Grove avenue, and many people from out of town motored into Kingston to hear the next governor of the state.

The parking grounds back of the state armory on Broadway was filled with the cars of the early arrivals while both sides of Broadway from below Hoffman street to up within a short distance of the Broadway railroad crossing was filled with closely parked automobiles. The police arrangements for handling the crowds prevented any traffic congestion.

To entertain the crowd until the arrival of the speakers a band furnished an appropriate musical program.

Secretary Eckert of the Republican county committee, called attention to the importance of the present campaign in nation and state which he said was second to no other political campaign ever fought here. His references to President Coolidge and General Dawes, and the necessity of backing them up with a Republican congressman through the election of Harcourt J. Pratt, were enthusiastically received. Mr. Eckert's references to Colonel Roosevelt and his record and the necessity in not only electing the colonel but a Republican state legislature in electing Senator Bouton and Millard Davis were also enthusiastically received.

Senator Bouton was introduced and was given an ovation. He spoke on the national issues and the record made by President Coolidge and General Dawes in administering national affairs and of the confidence reposed in them by the people. Senator Bouton also spoke on state affairs and referred especially to the legislative branch and he was speaking when Colonel Roosevelt arrived.

Colonel Roosevelt arrived at 1:45 o'clock and was escorted by County Chairman Philip Elting, who met him at the train. The colonel had difficulty in passing through the crowd on account of the large number of people who pressed around him anxious to shake his hand, and when he mounted to the platform he was loudly cheered.

Chairman Elting in introducing Colonel Roosevelt called attention to the fact that 14 years ago on October 29, 1910, on almost the same spot he had introduced his father, President Roosevelt, to a Kingston audience.

As Colonel Roosevelt arose to speak he was given an enthusiastic welcome and as the applause became more subdued he began to speak. He said that the one difference between his former speeches and this occasion was that heretofore he had asked votes for others; now he was asking votes for himself.

He described first the national administration and said that from his tour of the state he knew the people wanted four years more of Calvin Coolidge and common sense.

The Democratic party was trying to face both ways in nation and in state, but was unalterably pledged to Davis and Bryan, conservative and radical. In the nation the Democratic party favored the repeal of the tariff which was a protection erected by the American people against the cheap labor and unfavorable conditions in Europe.

The Republican party favored the tariff which would continue protection and continue conditions; providing a job for every man instead of allowing 5,000,000 idle workmen as under Democratic rule for eight years.

In the state the Democratic party had consistently opposed all beneficial legislation for workmen unless they could get the credit. The Republican party had passed 80 per cent of such legislation beginning in 1887 with the eight hour law; continuing in 1891 with the law creating the department of labor; and continued since by the workman's compensation law and other measures.

In 1914 a Republican assembly passed the widow's pension bill but a Democratic senate killed it. The next year a united Republican legislature repealed it and it became a law.

Last winter the Republican assembly passed the bill reducing the number of hours a workman could work under pressure; a Democratic senate killed it.

A bill reducing the hours of labor for women to 54 hours a week has been passed by the Republicans in spite of Democratic opposition. Liberal pronouncements of the Republican party platform would be passed and become laws when he became governor.

The Democratic party claimed exclusive friendship for the world war veterans, but a Democratic senate killed the bonus bill passed by a Republican assembly. He promised that the bill should be repassed and become a law when he became governor.

To do these things, he said, required a Republican legislature and he would need a Republican senate and assembly.

In conclusion he urged every one to do their duty on Election Day by going to the polls and casting a vote for Coolidge and common sense, and the entire Republican national, state and local tickets.

Colonel Roosevelt was again given an ovation as he concluded his address at 2:10 o'clock and was hurried to the special train which conveyed him to Saugerties where he was scheduled to speak.

Ulster County Sunday School Annual Session

Large Attendance at Opening Meeting of County Sunday School Association—Speakers Outline Benefits of School—Registration of Those Attending.

The Ulster County Sunday School Association opened its annual sessions at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church this morning with an excellent and representative attendance.

The Rev. Mr. Van Deusen, president of the association, presided.

The session opened with worship, prayer being offered by the Rev. Mr. Gulick.

The general topic for the morning was "Some of the Agencies of Religious Education."

The first address of the morning was given by the Rev. Walter M. Howlett, secretary, department of religious education, Greater New York Federation of Churches, who spoke on "The Present Religious and Moral Conditions in America."

He took as his topic, "Ye Are the Salt of the Earth," and counted those present that saving quality and quantity in the life of America today. Humanity has lost much of its saving salt and must be reinvigorated. Much as the public schools are doing for the education and character building of our children they are not doing what a religious training should. Lack of religion in the home and school life of our children, Mr. Howlett considered the cause of the great crime wave among youth of today. They are without knowledge or acquaintance with God. As it stands, the better educated, the better and more clever the criminal.

Mr. Howlett took cognizance of the lawlessness of today, even noting that in the Empire State today the governor repealed the Mullock-Gage law in the interest of law enforcement and even has the nerve to again ask the people for their votes. Whether Republican or Democrat is not the question there, but a man who will enforce the law. In spite of all this there is great hope for our country and it is in Jesus Christ. The people of America are right at heart. It is the business of the Sunday school to teach religion to our children in order to save them, especially from the ages of 10 to 13 rather than to reform them as adults—if that can be done. Best of all we are now even undertaking the teaching of religion in our land in the days of the week, besides Sunday.

This address was followed by considerable discussion. The next speaker was Miss Mary Deniston of New York city, who spoke very helpfully and interestingly on "The Responsibility of the Church for the Moral and Religious Training of Childhood—How Does it Meet This Responsibility?" It was her belief that the Sunday school, because of the little religious training in the homes must make more than Bible students of its children; it must try to make Christians of them as well as teaching them the Bible. They must be taught that religion is an everyday affair inseparable from life itself. The Daily Vacation Bible School is helping materially in this work. The Sunday school must supplement the home training and also through the children, wake up the home to its responsibilities in giving children religious training. Through Sunday School Parent-Teacher Associations this is being done, and it is being made possible to enforce and make real to the children in the week following Sunday what they have learned about right living and God on Sunday. Again there was an interested discussion.

At this point Chairman Van Deusen announced the two following committees which were to report in the afternoon:

Nominating Committee—Charles A. Snyder, Hurley; Miss Maye Osterhout, Flatbush; Mrs. Leah W. Jones, Kingston; Martin J. Every, Boiceville.

Resolutions Committee—The Rev. E. C. Clapp, D. D. New Paltz; Mrs. Harvey H. Todd, Woodstock; Mrs. Elmira Ellsworth, St. Remy.

The last speaker of the morning was Mrs. Franklin Brimmer, Director of Children's Work, Albany Division Sunday School Association. She talked to the teachers and delegates present on "The Place of the Home in Religious Education." Mrs. Brimmer felt that parents would like to do more to help in the religious education of their children, very often if they knew how, and so she advocated a church library which would contain helpful books for just such aid. "Religion in the home can so well be taught by stories, both Bible and other stories, and there should be such story books as helps for the parents." The speaker did not feel that home discipline had entirely broken down, but did recognize that it had changed and children were given much more choice of action. In that case they must be helped to choose wisely. We must try to make our children, not "imitates" of their homes, but partners in the home and partners with Christ. There should be a sympathetic cooperation with the home, and mothers and fathers as well as the children should have the help of the Sunday school. Brief but pointed discussion followed.

The morning session closed with an open forum conducted by the Rev. Walter M. Howlett. The afternoon session convened at 1:30 o'clock and the following topics were presented to hear Theodore Roosevelt speak.

The following persons were registered at the convention in the morning: Mrs. Frank M. Brink, Mrs. F. H. Hurley.

Your Radio Was Not Out of Order

Trouble Thursday Night was Local, but Outside Your Set and Remedy is Being Sought Diligently.

The hundreds of radio fans in Kingston who could not get their sets to work well Thursday night will be pleased to know that the trouble was general in the city and is caused by some local condition in electrical transmission or power. A vigorous effort is being made by the Kingston Gas and Electric Company to locate and remedy the trouble. No amount of adjusting will make a radio set work properly so long as this condition exists and radio fans will be cheered up wonderfully when they realize that their sets are not out of order. A peculiar feature of the trouble is that it does not exist in daylight, but comes on about 6 or 7 o'clock in the evening. Thursday night the interference was continuous from shortly after 6 o'clock. On other evenings it has grown less or disappeared during portions of the night.

Purchase Ulster Electric Plant

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 24.—The Public Service Commission has issued a preliminary order consenting to the transfer by Charles H. Stokes of the franchises, works and system of his electric plant in the town of Wawarsing and Rochester, Ulster county, to the Kingston Gas & Electric Company. The valuation of the Stokes property is to be determined later.

The property owned by Mr. Stokes consists of a 2,200 volt pole line with between 25 and 30 miles of wire. There are now about 330 customers, practically all being domestic consumers. There is no generating plant, current being purchased from the United Hudson Electric Corporation. The transfer will result in a more economical operation of the lines, duplication of operating force and transportation equipment being eliminated, and the Kingston company will be in a position to make needed extensions to the service.

This evening a social will be held at the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church by Club No. 2. A large attendance is expected. The next meeting of the colored voters of Kingston and Ulster county will be held at the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Religious Survey Of Kingston

Fifteen Pastors of City Churches Appoint Committees to Organize Complete Religious Survey of City.

Fifteen pastors of Kingston city churches met at the Stuyvesant Hotel on Thursday and after dinner discussed the proposition of a religious survey of this city, which has been under consideration for some time.

The conference of city pastors was arranged by the Rev. Robert A. Greenwell, pastor of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, and the Rev. Lucas Boeve, pastor of the First Dutch Church, who explained the purpose of the gathering. The Rev. Mr. Greenwell was made chairman of the conference and the Rev. J. B. Steketee was chosen secretary.

It was voted to proceed to organize a campaign for such a survey, to be begun at an early date. Chairman Greenwell was directed to appoint a committee, he to be chairman of the committee, consisting of five pastors and five laymen; the committee as a whole to be representative of the whole church in the city. This committee is to formulate a working plan and report again to the conference. It was also voted that the secretary should act as treasurer of the conference.

The last time a survey was had was in 1919 when the Ulster County Bible Society made a county survey. That campaign disclosed the fact that there were several hundred homes in the county that had no Bibles. That campaign had another value, it showed how many were not identified with the various churches in the county.

Several of the pastors spoke of the spiritual value that came as a result of the annual canvassings for the financial support of their churches. It seemed to be the unanimous opinion that the proposed survey of the city would bring in even larger blessing to the Christian church as a whole, not merely in the city but also in the neighboring church bodies. For the purpose of the survey is to discover the unchurched people of the city and immediate neighborhood; to make the ministry of the church more effective, and to awaken a larger interest in the work of the church.

Chairman Greenwell appointed the following committee:

The Rev. Lucas Boeve, William S. Eltinge, Charles V. A. Decker, the Rev. J. Wilbur Tetley, the Rev. Robert A. Greenwell, the Rev. Arthur S. Cole, Dr. J. R. Gillett, the Rev. W. F. Stowe, the Rev. William J. Nelson, Samuel M. Watts, the Rev. C. G. Ellis, Floyd W. Powell, the Rev. F. W. Moot.

The conference commissioned the Rev. J. W. Tetley to convey to the Rev. Dr. Seeley their greetings and well wishes for speedy restoration of strength for his work.

New Legislators In 1925 Session

Speaker Machold And Senator Lusk To Retire—Possible Candidates To Fill Vacancies.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, Oct. 24.—There will be many new faces in both the Senate and Assembly of the 1925 session of the State Legislature.

Two men, Speaker H. Edmund Machold and Senator Clayton R. Lusk, who have shaped the Republican policies in the Legislature for several years, will not return to the next session. Both have retired from politics, at least for the present. Machold will devote himself to his banking business at Watertown and Lusk will resume an active practice of law at Cortland.

The retirement of Speaker Machold means there will be a new face in the speaker's chair in the lower house. Machold served as speaker for the last four sessions, succeeding Thaddeus C. Sweet of Oswego, present congressman.

There is much talk around the Capitol at the present that if the Republicans should retain control of the Assembly at the coming election, Assemblyman Joseph A. McGinnies of Chautauque, would be elected speaker. McGinnies has been chairman of the ways and means committee for the last four years and on many occasions has presided in the absence of Machold. He is entirely familiar with the duties of speaker. On the other hand, should the Democrats win a majority of the seats in the Assembly at the election, in all probability, Assemblyman Maurice Bloch of New York, last year's minority leader in the house, would be elected speaker.

If McGinnies is the new speaker, it was said at the Capitol today, if the F. Trubee Davison of Nassau, if the latter is re-elected, will probably be chairman of the powerful ways and means committee.

Senator George R. Fearon of Syracuse, if he is re-elected, is expected to be chosen as Republican leader of the Senate. Whether this will be a minority or majority post depends upon whether the Democrats retain control of the Senate at the ensuing election. The Democrats controlled the Senate by one vote during the last two years.

RADIO

(Edited by G. Douglas Wardrop, Editor of Radio Merchandising.)

This Diagram Illustrates How the Double Pole, Double Throw Switch is Employed. Wave Lengths Depend Upon Position of Switching Device.

By FRANCIS H. ARMSTRONG

One of the problems troubling many radio fans at the present time is the adjustment of their sets to cover the higher wave lengths, especially of 492 and 520 meters. One method that may be applied to most receivers in present day use, and particularly those of the two variometer and variocoupler type, is by the addition of instruments called condensers. Where such loading of capacity is resorted to great care must be exercised in securing regeneration over the wave length bands desired.

Most receiving sets embodying radio frequency will remain just as they are. These instruments are governed by the range of transformers included in the construction of the set, and the general practice of most manufacturers has been to design their radio frequency transformers to cover a wave length range of from 300 to 550 meters. There is no question regarding most of the transformers made today, as the majority run as high as the new wave length of 520 meters.

In some cases where a loop aerial is employed in conjunction with a radio frequency set more turns of wire on the loop may have to be added in order to secure sufficient added inductance in this part of the circuit to reach the wave desired. The reason for this is that the loop acts in this case as a tuning inductance. Should the loop aerial be deficient in its inductance value, then there is no real point to work on for the higher wave lengths. Better service may be had if the original loop is supplied with a sufficient number of turns on its frame, which are then varied by means of a suitable tapping or a switching arrangement.

Leading Three-Circuit Tuner. Under this type of regenerator comes the well-known two variometer and variocoupler circuit. This type of apparatus has become the prize receiver of many a radio fan, since it contains the elements which give a set selectivity, but since some new stations were injected into the ether it seems that most of the variometer sets fall short of bringing in concerts on the longer waves. With this set an arrangement can be made to secure shorter waves with their maximum signal strength just as efficiently as when using the longer wave length bands.

This arrangement consists of employing a double pole, double throw switch, or by the use of an anti-capacity switch. The first arrangement would be the better of the two for the beginner or novice, since it appears to be much simpler. In the accompanying diagram (Figure 1) one may get an idea how the double pole, double throw switching arrangement is employed. The wave lengths depend entirely upon the position of the switching device.

In Figures 1 and 2 the condensers are represented by C. These condensers may be made at home or they can be purchased at any radio shop at the option of the builder. If purchased the fixed type condenser is to be preferred. In shopping around the fan will run into various types of fixed condensers, many of them consisting of paper and tinfoil. This type of condenser should not be considered, as its capacity is not uniform.

In recent tests some of these paper condensers gave no fixed reading whatsoever; capacities varied anywhere from .0002 to .001 mfd. merely by pressing the condenser together with the fingers. Due to their loose construction, moisture creeps in and varies the capacity to the same degree of inaccuracy. What the fan should buy is a condenser constructed of mica and copper foil machine pressed or finely clamped.

Lead Circuit Carefully.

Where loading is resorted to great care must be exercised to protect regeneration on the higher wave bands. A double pole double throw switch is shown in Figure 1. When the position of the switch is such that it neither cuts in or out condensers the set is standard and will operate normally over its limit of wave length range. Should the condenser switch be thrown to a position indicated for the "500-meter" stations, then two condensers in series are cut into the circuit and placed across the grid variometer and secondary of coupled.

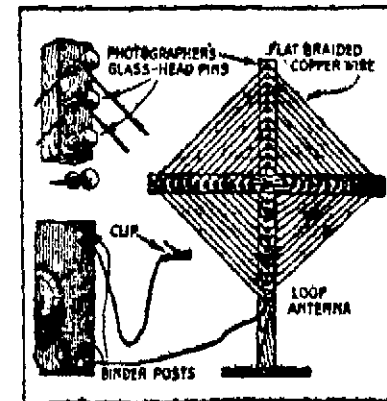

The switch throws to the position of "1,000 meters" has a different effect. It disconnects all previous connections and adds capacity from the plate circuit to the grid circuit. The two condensers are connected in series, the connection being made from the plate back to the filament. Another connection is then taken from the center of both condensers and placed to a point just prior to the grid condenser, but in the grid circuit. This then provides for capacitive regeneration over the entire wave length range up to 1,000 meters.

The condenser values should average about .00025 capacity, add, as explained, should be of the mica and copper foil type. Why most of the sets failed to function properly is due to the fact that regeneration was not available on the higher wave bands.

In Figure 2 a cam switch or anti-capacity switch arrangement is illustrated, but this is merely a method of accomplishing the same result as the previously mentioned switch. The appearance and arrangement of the cam switch appeals to most radio fans, and therefore is more often employed. The amateur who is willing to "make his own" must bear in mind that for proper results regeneration is essential on the higher wave bands.—New York Sun.

Adjustable Loop Aerial Is Easily Constructed

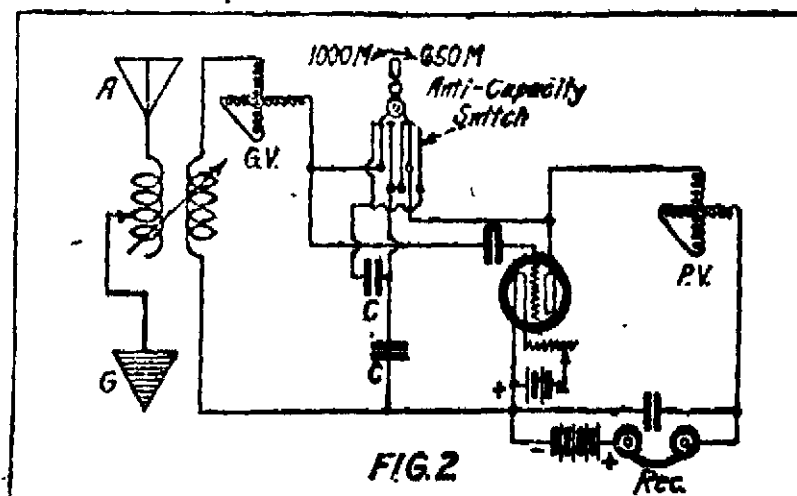

A loop aerial that is adjustable in length to suit receiving conditions and therefore is especially suitable for sets of the super-heterodyne type, may be made easily by the method illustrated. A frame of conventional design is made of 1/4 by 1 inch white pine, with a round or square base. The arms are studded with glass-head pins, such as photographs used. On these pins is wound a length of bare, braided copper wire.

One end of the winding is fastened to the pin in the center, and the other to a binding post on the radio panel. Connect a short piece of flexible wire with the other binding post and solder a clip on the loop end, so that it may be snapped on the loop at any place. This allows the closest possible tuning of the aerial circuit.

Cam Switch or Anti-Capacity Switch Arrangement is Merely a Method of Accomplishing Same Result as Double-Throw Switch.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By Mary Graham Bonner

KITTEN AND RABBITS

There were three little baby rabbits and a kitten. The kitten had had a narrow escape.

There had been a dreadful wind and rainstorm and during that storm the kitten had found his way to the house where the rabbits lived.

Perhaps we should say he found his way to the house where the people who owned the rabbits lived.

His fur looked wet and brown and bedraggled and he seemed scarcely alive when he first arrived.

Oh, what a storm it had been. Yes, he had certainly had to use up one of his nine lives on that storm.

He had almost been afraid he would not be able to stand it and live through it.

How he had wandered to this house, or how he had been blown to it, he did not know.

For he really and truly had been actually blown to the house.

Then the storm was over and the people kept him and he played with the rabbits and he had delicious warm milk to drink.

His fur became soft and silky and he began to be proud of his appearance.

It was so different from the first appearance he had made upon his arrival. Yet they had taken him in and had been kind to him. His first home had not amounted to much.

This was a nice home. There were children and of course the rabbits and he found he enjoyed playing with them all, and they all enjoyed playing with him which made it nice, too.

Sometimes when callers came they would play with him and with the rabbits too.

One caller was very funny. He was big, oh, so big and his voice was gruff. But he would spend all his time trying to get the rabbits to eat out of his hands, and when they did he was as flattered as flattered could be by the attention of the rabbits.

Sometimes the kitten would sleep in the same box with the rabbits and the family used to come and look at them and they would say:

"Isn't this an unusual sight? This is the little kitten who came to us during that dreadful storm some time ago."

"Would you ever believe that such a beautiful kitten could have been a be-dragged, dreadful looking little creature, scarcely able to move?"

The kitten was so pleased that his improvement was a satisfaction to the family as it certainly was to himself.

One day, some time after this, when the kitten had grown to be quite a cat, a dog came around and looked as though he were going for the rabbits.

Now the young cat was not going to have his rabbit friends hurt so he made such sounds and showed his claws in such a wild, fierce way, that the dog went away.

Oh, how grateful the rabbits were. Their little noses wrinkled and they said:

"Kitten-Cat, you are such a good friend of ours."

"Kitten-Cat, you are such a good friend of ours."

"Kitten-Cat, you are such a good friend of ours."

"Kitten-Cat, you are such a good friend of ours."

"Kitten-Cat, you are such a good friend of ours."

"Kitten-Cat, you are such a good friend of ours."

"Kitten-Cat, you are such a good friend of ours."

GAS BUGGIES—What Could He Tell Her When They Reached the F

"I CAN'T LET ANY SEE THAT AFTER THE WAY I'VE BAWLED HER OUT FOR DUMPING INTO THINGS—"

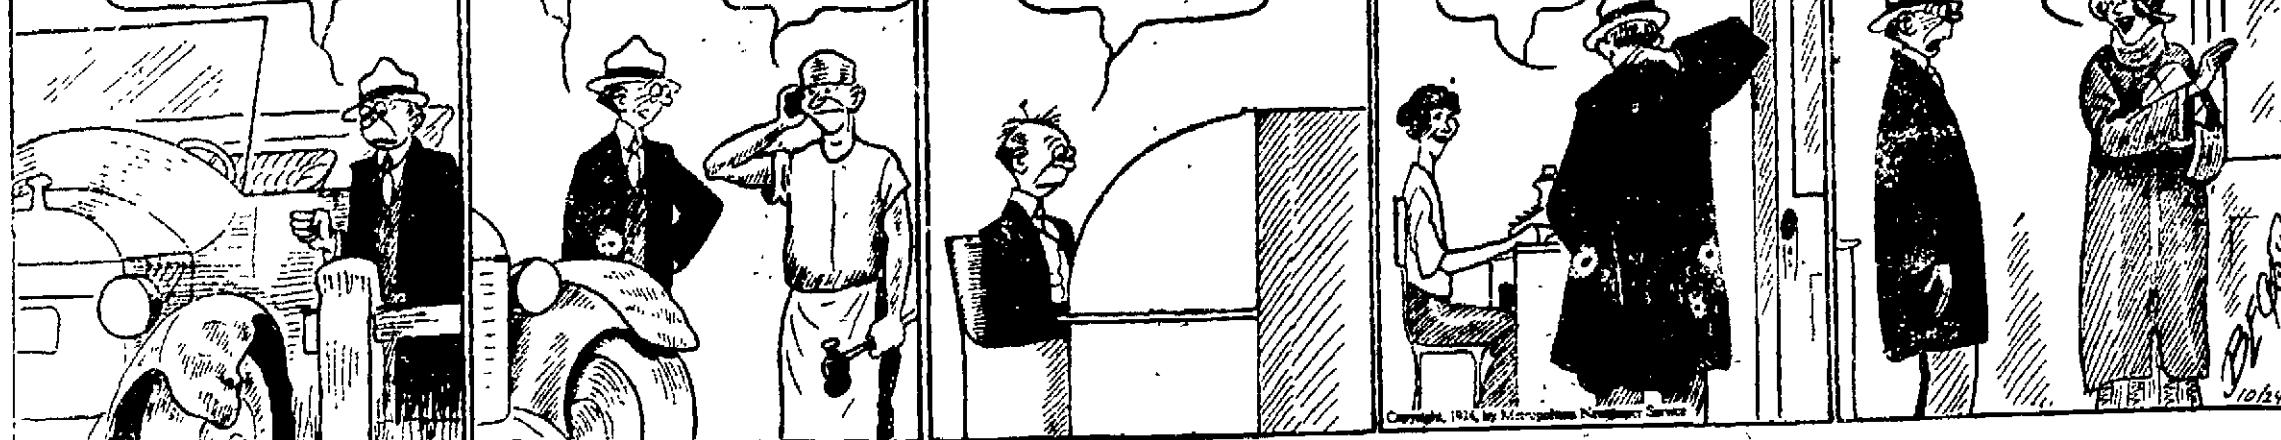

"I'LL CERTAINLY APPRECIATE IT IF YOU CAN FIX IT BY TONIGHT—"

"I'LL HAVE IT READY FOR YOU ON YOUR WAY HOME—"

"TIME FOR ME TO BEAT IT—THAT SHOP CLOSES AT SIX—"

"I'M LEAVING THE OFFICE NOW, MISS BATTERSBY—YOU SIGN MY MAIL FOR ME—"

"HELLO, DEAR—I WAS RIGHT NEARBY SO I THOUGHT I'D SKIP OVER AND RIDE HOME WITH YOU—"

And Kitten-Cat, as he was now called said:

"I remember when you took me in and I was a perfect disgrace. You were friendly to me when I was scarcely fit to look at."

"In fact I wasn't fit to look at."

"There are lots who will take in a beautiful pet but an ugly, wet, horrible looking one isn't so much wanted."

"The family and you, Three Rabbit friends, were different."

A little later on, the Kitten-Cat was exhibited in a fine Cat show and he took the prize.

"And to think," Kitten-Cat told the rabbits, "that once I was such a sight. It shows what a good home and happiness will do for anyone."

Shepherd Is Defined

"What is a shepherd?" asked the teacher of the small pupils in the juvenile class.

The class failed to respond.

"Well," continued the teacher, "suppose you were all lambs—that is, little sheep—what would I be?"

"A big sheep," replied the boy at the foot of the class.

That's Right

Teacher—Johnny, use the words "handsome" and "ransom" in a sentence.

Johnny (after some thought): A tomcat sat on the sewing machine. So sweet and fine and handsome; Till he got ten stitches in his tail; Then, believe me, folks, he ran away.

Danger in Saccharine

Saccharine is an intensely sweet substance commercially about 300 times as sweet as cane sugar. It is used in preserves and in foods especially adapted to persons suffering from diabetes; but for normal individuals the substitution is undesirable, as in some countries the free use of it is prohibited by statute.

GOOD THINGS WE ALL LIKE

Between seasons, when the appetite fails, hearty dishes do not appeal, and one really needs to eat a dish of nicely seasoned macaroni will touch the spot.

Macaroni, cheese, hard-boiled eggs and a cupful of rich white sauce baked, makes a hearty and well-liked dish. Cook a cupful of macaroni and five eggs in the shell, a half cupful of grated cheese and the white sauce with a bit of onion juice. Put the ingredients in layers, having the cheese between to avoid the strongest heat. Cut the eggs into eighths and bake just long enough to become heated hot.

Grandmother's Muffins.—Mix one cupful each of corn meal and flour, one-half cupful of light brown sugar—or maple sugar if it can be obtained, two cupfuls of cold water and one-half teaspoonful of salt, let stand over night. In the morning add one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a tablespoonful of hot water. Beat hard and drop into hot, well-greased pan and bake in a hot oven twenty-five minutes.

Brussels Sprouts With Cream Sauce.—Boil a quart of brussels sprouts in two quarts of water until tender. Drain and serve with a rich white sauce prepared by melting two tablespoonfuls of butter and when bubbling hot add two tablespoonfuls of flour, cook until smooth and add one and one-quarter cupfuls of rich milk or thin cream; cook until smooth and thick, adding six or eight cooked chestnuts which have been put through a sieve.

Honey Hermits.—Dissolve one teaspoonful of soda in one and one-half cupfuls of warm milk; add one cupful of butter; cream together. Beat three eggs well and add to the honey and butter, then add five cupfuls of flour sifted with a teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon and two and one-fourth cupfuls each of chopped raisins and nuts. Stir until well blended and drop from a teaspoon on buttered sheet. Bake in a moderate oven.

Traced to Archimedes

The word "Eureka" is said to have been uttered by Archimedes (287-212 B. C.), the Greek philosopher, when the principle of specific gravity first dawned upon him. It is said that the thought first came to him while in the bath, and that he fled half-clad through the streets of Syracuse to his home, shouting, "I have found it! I have found it!" The problem that had been given him to solve was to determine whether a golden crown made for Hiero king of Syracuse had been alloyed with silver. This King had suspected, and the philosopher afterwards proved it to be true.

Shawls Long Popular

The manufacture of the famous Paisley shawls began early in the Nineteenth century at Paisley, Scotland.

Famous Pleasure Spot of English Monarchs

Many kings have done their part to make Hampton court what it is today, asserts a writer in John O'London's Weekly. Wolsey began it all, and it is interesting to learn that when he walked in his park he liked to be left to his meditations. He would allow no servant to come near him; his order was that they should keep as far from him "as one might shoot an arrow." When Henry came into possession he at once extended the gardens, planted quickset hedges, and bought apple and pear saplings.

Elizabeth described the gardens in Elizabeth's reign as "most pleasant," adding that he "saw rosemary, so planted and nailed to the walls as to cover them entirely, which is a method exceedingly common in England."

Charles I formed lakes. Charles II planted more than two hundred elms and as many lime trees. William III in his turn, brought in the note of Dutch formality with yew, box, and holly sculptured into bird and animal shapes or arranged to represent his royal initials; he formed rectilinear canals and did strange things with terrace and balcony, and fountains better designed (said Horace Walpole) "to wet the unwary than to refresh the panting spectator." Happily, nearly everything he did was afterward undone.

Tools of Insect World

Most of the articles in that great chest of tools that man's inventive genius has contrived were invented by the insect world before he fashioned the first, writes Ernest Bader, Ph. D., in Popular Science Monthly. Moreover, man's tools are usually inferior in precision and versatility.

Saw, pliers, brushes, augers, hooks, hammers, knives, lancets—all of these and yet other tools are in the insects' remarkable chest. Nature attached them to the insects' bodies—to the legs, to the head, to the abdomen, wherever they were needed. They are made of chitin, a material that, unlike the metal tools of man, resists the action of water and the milder acids. The insect tool chest is truly complete. One of its wonders being the closeness of the resemblance of the articles it contains to the tools that man has been so long in fashioning.

HAS UNIQUE FORM OF GOVERNMENT

Chile's Constitution Is Oldest in Western Hemisphere.

Washington.—The unusual situation of the President of Chile attempting unsuccessfully to resign, and instead being sent by congress on a six months' leave of absence, draws attention to that country's constitution, which in many ways is the most interesting in Latin America, says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

President Arturo Alessandri, to whom reference is made, is now living in Argentina while his country is in the hands of a military and naval committee and a new cabinet formed under this "junta."

"The Chilean constitution," continues the bulletin, "has existed since 1833 and is the oldest constitution of a republic in the Western hemisphere except that of the United States. It is an intimate mixture of the governmental principles of the United States and those of Europe. While it was not designed with such an idea in view, developments in recent years seemed to be steering Chile toward a real parliamentary system; but the recent coup d'etat appears to have been in the opposite direction."

"Under the Chilean constitution of 1833 the American system of three separate functions—executive, legislative and judicial—was adopted; but unlike the United States, Chile incorporated a system of federal centralization which is probably more extreme than in any other republic. The President appoints the 28 intendents, who correspond roughly to our governors. With the intendents nominating them he also appoints the 82 governors who rule over districts such as might be formed by groups of counties in the United States. The governors appoint subdelegates to administer what might roughly correspond to townships, and the subdelegates in turn appoint inspectors for small precincts. The whole elaborate civil hierarchy centers in the President and is ruled from the national capital."

Has Council of State.

"The constitution of 1833 provided for the indirect election of the President for five years through a sort of electoral college; the indirect election of senators in the provinces for six year terms, and the direct election of members of the lower house from the districts for three-year terms. There was no vice president. The President was to appoint a cabinet of six members to be confirmed by the senate and the succession passed to the secretary of the interior if the Presidential chair was vacated, a new Presidential election to be called immediately. A sort of connecting link was established between the Executive and the legislature in the form of a council of state made up of the President, the cabinet, five additional members chosen by the President, and six chosen by congress."

"The constitution has had only slight modifications. The provision establishing the Roman Catholic church and prohibiting other forms of public worship has been amended to permit other religions to celebrate their rites in their own buildings and civil marriages are now recognized. The provision setting up property qualifications for voters has been construed liberally until now literacy is the chief test."

"In late years, however, the more liberal parties have gained strength steadily, and it was an alliance of such a complexion that in 1920 elected the recently ousted President. What the President stood for when he took office is indicated by the principal recommendations in his message of June, 1921. He advocated improved legal status for women, labor welfare, complete separation of church and state, decentralization of the government, creation of the office of vice president, abolition of the permanent committee of congress and the council of state, and the popular election of President. The closeness of the latest election is probably one factor in the recent unprecedented ousting of the President. The election was so nearly a tie that a special tribunal—called a court of honor—was set up to decide it. This body declared Alessandri to be elected by 1 vote in the electoral college, 177 to his opponent's 176."

Longer, Narrower California.

"Financial difficulties made up one factor in the recent events which culminated in the ousting of the President. Chile's income is largely dependent on the world-famous nitrate deposits of her northern deserts. Two thirds of the republic's revenue comes from export taxes on the chemical. The remainder is made up of miscellaneous income duties and internal taxes."

"Chile may be superficially compared to California with directions reversed. It stretches in a narrow strip with the Pacific on one side and a mountain range on the other and embraces dry desert, a productive temperate region, and an area of moisture and cold. Whereas California is only 300 miles long, however, Chile is 2,700 miles in length. To correspond with Chile in extent of latitude covered, California would have to annex the south a strip twice as long as Mexico's Lower California, and would have to extend northward to the lower tip of Alaska's 'Panhandle.'"

NEW BRIDGE MENACE TO ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL

Famous Historic Edifice in London Is Threatened With Disintegration.

London.—Despite heroic efforts being made to strengthen its fabric, evidence accumulates that St. Paul's cathedral, Sir Christopher Wren's masterpiece, is threatened with disintegration. This evidence has been obtained from a variety of sources during the last 25 years.

The latest warning comes from the recently constituted fine arts commission, which argues against the erection of a new bridge over the Thames opposite St. Paul's on the ground that the great cathedral already is threatened by heavy motor traffic, which is constantly increasing, and that any further shaking may lead to a catastrophe.

The defenders of the cathedral argue two ways. Either the new bridge would carry little traffic and so would be unnecessary, or it would carry a great deal, in which case the constant vibration would endanger Wren's masterpiece, everywhere recognized as one of the finest buildings in the world.

Fears for the safety of St. Paul's first were entertained when the subway was run through the earth in close proximity to the foundations. The vibration was recognized as a menace.

This menace has been steadily augmented by the constant increase in surface motor traffic which rolls past the church, and in very close proximity to it.

Finally, the arguments of the fine arts commission against a new bridge and increased traffic are supplemented by a warning from Mervyn Macartney, surveyor of the cathedral. He argues that underground work for the structures of the proposed bridge would threaten the foundations of St. Paul's by tending to drain off the water under the "pot earth" on which the cathedral stands.

Citizens Donate Tract to Lafayette National Park

Washington.—A donation of approximately 110 acres on Mount Desert Island, Maine, for inclusion in the Lafayette National park, tendered by the Hancock county trustees of public reservations, Charles W. Eliot, president, will be accepted, it was announced by the Department of the Interior. The entire area of this national park, at present the only one east of the Mississippi river, has been a gift to the nation by public-spirited citizens.

Examination of the abstract and deed covering the conveyance of the lands to the United States revealed the fact that they were once a part of the Province of Acadia, and that its chain of title, a very extended one, had its origin in part in a grant by Louis XIV, king of France, in 1683, and in part in a concession made in 1762 by the General court of the province of Massachusetts.

Lafayette National park first became a public reservation in 1916 when over five thousand acres on Mount Desert Island were accepted by President Wilson as the Sieur de Monts National monument. In 1919 by act of congress the area was given national park status and named the Lafayette National park. The present donation is the fourth that has been made and accepted since the establishment of the park. The park area includes a group of granite mountains, among the oldest in America, and magnificent forests, and includes the highest prominence along the Atlantic coast.

"Garden of Eden" Gives Up Bones of New Species

Urga, Mongolia.—Prof. Peter Kozloff, Russian explorer, has discovered near here an enormous number of skeletons of hitherto unknown animals and many human remains which lead him to believe that Mongolia may have been the birthplace of man and the point of origin of a considerable part of the animal and reptile world.

Among the fossils already unearthed by Prof. Kozloff and his assistants are those of 25 quadrupeds of undesignated species; 15 birds of varying sizes, 100 reptiles, snakes and fishes, and more than 1,000 insects of giant size.

It will be recalled that Professor Kozloff last June discovered several remarkable tombs near here belonging to the Chinese emperors and princes who ruled Mongolia at a time antedating the pharaoh Tut-Ankh-Amen of Egypt. It will also be remembered that Prof. Roy Chapman Andrews of the American Museum of Natural History, New York city, startled the scientific world last year by discovering nests of dinosaur eggs.

Berlin Rebuilds Castles
Minus Whims of Kaiser

Berlin.—There has been a reaction in Berlin against the style of city architecture which was popular in the old days with William Hohenzollern, and which he was not slow to enforce. The taste of the former ruler is declared today to have been distinctly bad, and now the municipality will have no more of it.

In Potsdam the reaction shows particularly. Here are the palaces of the former royal family, and many of them are being restored to the condition they were in prior to the ascent to the throne of William II. The same policy is to be followed out in Berlin, with its many castles and palaces.

RED CROSS YEAR'S COST $21,366,255

Nearly $12,000,000 Devoted to Helping Victims of Great Japanese Earthquake.

OVER 3,000 BUSY CHAPTERS

Aid to Disabled War Veterans Paramount and Reaches Nearly $4,000,000.

Washington.—More than $21,000,000 was the total of funds expended in all activities of the American Red Cross during the last fiscal year, ended June 30, says a statement issued by the National organization. This expenditure was almost one-sixth of the amount of money disbursed by the Red Cross in the war year, July, 1917, to June, 1918. Of this extraordinary sum $11,631,303 was America's contribution to the Red Cross for relief of the Japanese earthquake victims. This was increased to $11,763,803 by appropriations from general funds of the Red Cross, and it represented probably the largest spontaneous outpouring of beneficence of a single nation in the history of the world.

Over 3,000 active Chapters expended during the year $4,869,000, the National organization disbursed $16,497,255.35, making the total $21,366,255.35—all for humanitarian work which reached practically around the world.

In announcing the year's record of American Red Cross industry the executive officials at Washington emphasize the fact that the extensive and never-halting work of the Red Cross depends almost wholly upon the nationwide support of the organization from the memberships enrolled during the annual roll call which this year will be in progress from Nov. 11 to 27, when everyone is asked to join or renew their membership in the American Red Cross.

Soldier Service Paramount

Service in behalf of the disabled veterans of the World War and their families is a paramount obligation of the Red Cross. The organization, through its Chapters, is constantly in touch with this duty in 2,608 communities throughout the United States—the Chapters alone during the year expending in service for veterans about $2,000,000. The National organization expended $1,735,825—a total of $3,735,825 applied to assisting war sufferers toward recovery from disability and distress.

This work is constant in hospitals, sanitariums, camps, soldiers' homes, in the community. For example, in helping disabled men and women in places where they were transient residents $173,076 from national funds alone was required to help solve their problems. Every Red Cross service is ever at hand ready to meet the individual need of these men and women.

The enlisted men in the Regular Army, the Navy, and the Marine Corps, with their home ties, mean a never-ending Red Cross service which figures cannot fully interpret. In this work a total of $685,385 was applied in meeting an obligation under the Red Cross charter which has been fulfilled for over 20 years.

Domestic Operations Extensive

In the past year Red Cross operations were almost wholly confined to continental United States and the insular possessions. Relief work following disasters called for immediate activities in 102 places and a total of $737,603.87 was spent in this service alone. In 33 major disasters trained workers were kept at the work of rehabilitation for many months.

In carrying on the health activities a total of $444,886.66 from Red Cross national funds, and $808,000 from Chapter treasuries—approximately $1,252,886 in all—was applied, giving some idea of the extent of Red Cross service in the fields of public health nursing, nutrition instruction, and spreading knowledge of personal hygiene and care of the sick in the home.

Advancing the cause of human safety, the First Aid instruction, locally by Chapters and over extensive national territory by the Red Cross instruction car covering trunk line railroads, and in teaching water-safety and increasing the membership of the Red Cross Life-Saving Corps, the total cost was $238,234.71, of which $216,234.71 came out of national funds.

Army of Over 5,500,000

The Junior Red Cross in the schools—with over 5,500,000 in its "I Serve" ranks—was aided with $233,510.78 to which it is estimated the Chapters added some $277,000—a total of $510,510.78. In various other domestic activities the Red Cross spent $233,473.19, and the Chapters in their numerous voluntary services expended an additional $1,648,000 during the year.

Foreign obligations, aside from Japan, were met with national funds as follows: Relief of refugees in Greece, $200,887.13; Junior Red Cross projects, $99,579.75; League of Red Cross Societies, $165,000; other insular and foreign work, $231,855.81. The American Red Cross budget for 1924-25 is $4,647,790.85, or $662,206.84 less than the budget for the year ended last June 30.

In good deeds for all peoples in time of distress the American Red Cross never rests. Help this work with your membership dollar—join on Armistice Day.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Novelties Add to New Fall Outfits

Ribbon, Ostrich, Metal Gauze, Flowers, Enamel Trinkets Among Fads.

A unique style of trimming is a round ornamental plaque, an exaggerated rosette. It is made usually of ribbon or ribbons of fancy feathers, or ostrich and ribbon combined, and the first examples of this rather striking novelty are of enormous size. This latest motif, says a fashion correspondent in the New York Times, is designed particularly to trim the new felt and velvet hats, indicating very definitely that both crowns and brims will be more generous than they have been for two seasons.

In two kinds, both color and shade, of ribbon, of ostrich, of flowers and metal gauze artistically combined, these stunning bits are seen on some of the French models of evening gowns. They form the high light in a costume otherwise plain in color and self-trimmed—with tucks, ruffles and stitching. The popular colors for the season are shown in some of these motifs—new reds, blues, greens and yellows, and almost invariably, with a touch of silver.

The shaded ribbons and the two-toned come with cords and selvages of a bright contrast. The motifs of ostrich are in the lightest feathery form, fringing a large silk and velvet flower. They are adapted to evening gowns of tulle, and sheer, lustrous fabrics.

The eternally feminine vanity case continues to stimulate the imagination and the artistic genius of designers.

One-Piece Coat Costume Designed for Fall Wear

Persian printed panne velvet is made up into this elaborately trimmed one-piece outfit for fall.

Handbag Is Made From Small Pieces of Silk

Quite an odd and attractive handbag can be made from small pieces of different colored silk by cutting the silk in strips about three-quarters of an inch wide and turning them in so that there will be no fraying or raw edges and then twisting each strip very tightly.

After they are twisted they can be arranged so as to form a design and can be sewn in place.

The colors are the most important thing in the arrangement, as they will help to bring out the idea of the design. The design can be drawn on a piece of canvas or sateen and may be filled in with twisted silk, the colors being arranged according to one's own taste.

If you are not good at designing you may be able to make a very artistic bag by sewing the silk on and giving it a twist here and there in a sort of scroll pattern, blending one color into another.

When this much of the bag is completed a top of some sort will have to be attached. Now the question is what kind of top would be most satisfactory—a frame or a drawstring? The bag with a definite design, the outside of which would be broken by folds made by a drawstring, would necessarily have a frame, whereas a bag with a continual design like the scroll pattern could have either a drawstring or a frame.

The design on a bag of this description seen recently represented a landscape and was entirely made of rosettes of twisted silk sewn very tightly together. The sky was of blue, a small house in the distance of yellow with small white pieces of silk for windows. Brown rosettes were used to form a road leading to the house and on both sides of the road green rosettes represented grass.—Chicago Journal.

New Fall Hats Combine Dull and Shiny Fabrics

Very small high-crowned shapes with narrow rolled or straight brims, shorter at the back than at the front, characterize the new hats.

The Spanish influence is emphasized and is featured in the high, flat-crowned type of hat with straight sailor brims.

Felt reigns supreme, and is used in every shade on the color card. Brown, however, takes precedence. The new brown is a soft, rich tone of chestnut. In addition, the light pinkish tones of cinnamon and café au lait are indorsed.

Combinations of suede and satin, felt and satin, and panne and felt, stand out conspicuously. In other words, the vogue for the combination of a brilliant and a dull-finished fabric, which has been the strong note in costumes for the last two seasons, is now featured in hats.

Ribbons and wire braid are extensively employed. Very novel treatments of cut felt are used; the felt motif is applied to shapes covered in satin, metal, or panne velvet. Many of the cut felt designs are in complicated floral patterns.

Two-color combinations and two-tone combinations both are favored in these felt appliques.

Trimnings are less and less in vogue, and practically all the hats are now featured inconspicuously trimmed with a fancy band, or a band in self fabric, a tuft of wings or aigrettes, or a single flower.

Dotted Swiss Is Chic

Plaited dotted swiss muslin of the old-fashioned kind is chic this season for anything from frocks to hats and underwear. To distinguish it from the swiss of other years, this season's muslin is likely to be white, with colored dots.

Frills for Dresses

Many a simple straight-line frock is given a distinctive touch this season by the use of lace bandings or frills placed down the frock front and around the neck and sleeves.

Islam, Not Mohammedanism

The proper name for the religion of the followers of Mohammed is not Mohammedanism, but Islam, according to competent authorities. Islam is an Arabic word meaning "submission to God."

Metal Brocade in Rose and Blue Trims Velvet Lounge Costume.

Vanity cases are presented in novel variants almost weekly—dainty, intriguing affairs that conceal a practical service under an ingenious cover.

Along with the latest ideas in trinkets are other lovely things in black enamel: new miniature watches, for instance—open face, with smooth, plain back and often with a monogram in stones or embossed gold. They are of the finest workmanship and in beautiful colors which harmonize easily with street or afternoon dress, very decorative, and are intended to be worn on a chain, ribbon or necklace like a locket.

Pretty, ingenious, self-filling pens, quite short and compact, a convenient accessory that many women now carry, are shown in enamel of many colors.

Tooled leather and wood are the materials of which some of the most chic toilet and costume accessories are designed. In one of the smartest New York shops are shown a variety of lovely things: powder boxes, vanity, card and perfume cases of fine, highly polished leather tooled in delicate patterns with dull or bright gold. The number of charming things to which this treatment is adapted is interesting—traveling conveniences; fittings for the desk, dressing table, suit case, handbag or sewing table; frames, belts and so on through a long list of original inventions. There appears to be a preference this season for rose-colored leather, and the loveliest things yet shown are from the Italian ateliers, in rose and gold, and green and gold.

Underthings of Black Are Favored by Women

Black lingerie has been received all ways with a sense of humor and as an extravagance of eccentric individuals. But a considerable number of fashionable women are coming to like underthings of black; robes-de-nuit, step-ins and corsets.

Of course there are no longer any corsets in the original sense. They are all wrap-arounds, girdles, brassieres, or whatever. But some of the latest models are shown in white satin trimmed with strips of black velvet ribbon, and in black satin ornamented with white lace, and there are corsets of flesh-colored satin bound with black.

Black corsets lined with sheer flesh-colored crepe, and corsets of flit lace lined with pink are among the most striking features of an unusual lingerie season.

THE YOUR EVENING SCARF IN A BOW.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

When the bandana first was launched at Deauville, ways of wearing it were feverishly tried. Later when the proportion of the decorative neckpiece were elongated, and the bandana, in the evolution of things, became the scarf, new ways of winding it about the throat and manipulating it generally were tried.

customary to have a scarf, to trail off one's shoulder, or wind about one's throat.

Among the newer scarfs—though, of course, not for ballroom use—may be cited those which are made of chenille and crepe, in semblance of baranduki, or printed on tawny satin in the spotted pattern a leopard has at last succeeded in making fashionable.

One is sure to take a keener interest in football contests if bundled to the chin in a gay plaid flannel scarf, as gay as any gingham.

The frock sketched is of lettuce green chiffon, delicately beaded in gold and pearls, over a black crepe satin foundation, and the scarf is of green chiffon.

"THEY ARE WEARING"—
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

During the last week many fall topcoats have appeared in the new brown shades trimmed with brown furs.

The coat dress is seen in every guise and is perhaps the most conspicuous type on Fifth avenue this week. It is seen with molded bodice, fitted skirt, as well as in the straight effect buttoned straight down the front.

A tapestry blue velvet coat of smart line was a striking example of the molded silhouette. Beaver formed a wide border at hem and on the shawl collar which fastened at the right side.

The square crowned hat in smart black and brown versions with feather fancy at center front or side also registers.

Sable stoles in three-skin widths and tail trimmed are worn in tight choker effect and crossed at the waistline at the side.

Long peacock fancies sweeping over the shoulder compete with the popular pompons as trim for felt hats.

At the theater, evening wraps of metal cloth trimmed with voluminous collars and bright colored ostrich are effective.

Evening frocks are worn with the fitted bodice plain and the skirt slightly full and beaded.

At a recent opening the number of fitted waistlines seen elicited the special comment that they still appeared extreme.

Pastel chiffon evening frocks made over molded slips of silver cloth are also popular for the younger type.

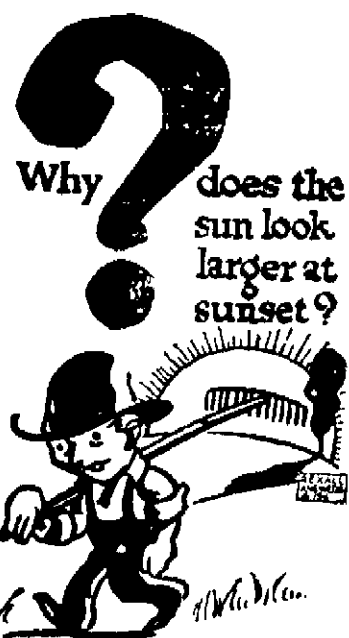

The debutante preparing for the football season is choosing bright fairs in such colors as turquoise, red, peacock blue and a vivid green to wear with fox trimmed sports coats.

Alice Terry

Alice Terry's home, before she entered the "movies," was in Vincennes, Ind. In a recent popular picture she was described as follows: "Just eighteen years old, with skin like silken damask tinted rose pink, her figure lithe and graceful, and oval face crowned with a mass of spun gold hair, eyes Mediterranean blue, a Grecian nose, a sensitive expressive mouth."

Have You This Habit?
By Margaret Morison
ALWAYS A SMILE

CAPTAIN VALLIANT stepped with the crowd into the elevator. Since he had come back from France these unburied, purposeless streams of people worried him, and he wished he had left shopping for his collars to his sister, as she had offered. "First floor!" called out the elevator man. "Ladies' suits, dresses, shoes; children's and misses' hats and coats." Valliant raked his brain: where had he heard that voice before? "Second floor! Misses' department; wrappers and kimonos; manicure parlor, lan-je-ee."

Then they shot up another story, and once more the voice that was so familiar sung out its song: "Third floor! Misses' department; manicure parlor; lan-je-ee." Suddenly he halted half way, realized he was repeating instead of going on with his list, and broke into a roar of laughter that sounded above the hum of the shuffling feet. Then Captain Valliant had it; it was Sunny Jim—Sunny Jim who, in mud up to his knees and snow and sleet when supplies had gone astray, would boom out suddenly upon their misery with that thunderous mirth of his. Suddenly young Valliant asked, "Jim, are you doing this job from choice?" "From choice, I'm getting married!" scoffed Jim. "She won't marry an elevator boy!" Captain Valliant pulled out a memorandum pad and scribbled down an address. "My uncle," said he, "wants someone who can get along with other men in his factory; incidentally there's some machinery to learn about; if you get it, it'll be a good future, Jim." Then they descended to make peace with the starter on the main floor, which, when Valliant explained, was not a difficult matter. Two weeks later Captain Valliant saw his uncle. "Who was that fellow with the pleasant face you sent to me the other day?" asked the manufacturer of machine parts. "Did you give him the job?" asked the captain. "No," said the other, "I wish I had. Someone else was ahead of him; a fellow I've just fired because he couldn't fit in."

So the captain went again in search of Jim. After a good deal of difficulty he got a street and number from the friendly starter, and found himself before the door of a drab-looking tenement. Inside he rang a bell. The door opened on Jim and a red-headed pink-cheeked Irish girl with the blues eyes and the whitest teeth Valliant had ever seen. "It's the Captain," shouted Jim. "Captain, she had me, job or no job and I was taking no chances—so we were married that day."

Later Mrs. Jim explained—"It was him standin' there and laughin' at everything goin' wrong that got me!" "Yes," ended Captain Valliant, after he had told of his uncle's renewed offer. "I know that habit of Sunny Jim."

Wheat in Dairy Rations
Is Highly Recommended

Recent low farm prices of wheat and the relatively higher price of bran and other grains and by-product feeds have produced an interest in the feeding value of wheat for live stock. As wheat is usually too valuable to feed to dairy cattle unless used for milking purposes, few dairymen have had experience in feeding it.

Ground wheat, while not as palatable as other cereal grains, due to the fact that it forms a sticky mass in the mouth, still is an excellent feed. The grain can be crushed instead of ground and, when fed in a grain mixture with bulky feeds, this objection is largely overcome.

Wheat contains practically the same amount of digestible carbohydrates, but considerably less fat than corn. Wheat is slightly richer in digestible protein, but is slightly lower in total digestible nutrients.

As compared to wheat bran, whole wheat contains less protein, but almost 25 per cent more total digestible nutrients. While bran is light and bulky, whole wheat has the opposite characteristic. Therefore, bran does not replace wheat as well as does corn.

Cows Will Produce More
if Fed Much Roughage

"Better Feeding for Dairy Cows" is the title of a new bulletin by Purdue university. The bulletin says in part:

"Dairy cows will be better fed and will produce much more profitably if:

1. They are fed all the roughage they will eat.
2. Most of their dry roughage is made up of such legumes as alfalfa, clover, soy bean or cowpea hay.
3. They are fed silage during the winter.
4. Their grain ration contains enough protein supplement to give it balance.
5. Cows are not expected to obtain too much of their feed from pasture, but are fed when pastures become poor in the summer and are taken off to pasture when it becomes poor in the fall.

Cows Crave for Wood

A craving for wood does not necessarily mean that a cow is in need of a tonic or medicine. Cows will sometimes develop a habit of chewing on foreign substances like that and they are very hard to break. The habit is started sometimes by the lack of salt, which causes the cow to chew on something that has a salty taste. Provide plenty of salt with a balanced ration and plenty of good drinking water and it may be that the cow will forget her habit.

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

A PUNCH FESTIVAL.

The largest punch-bowl ever used was that utilized at a party given by Admiral Edward Russell, 230 years ago tomorrow, October 25, 1694, when a marble fountain was converted for the occasion into a punch bowl. The ingredients used in brewing the punch included four hogheads of brandy, one "pipe" of malaga wine, 29 gallons of lime juice, 2,500 lemons, 4,200 pounds of white sugar, five pounds of grated nutmeg, 300 toasted biscuits and eight hogheads of water. A boy in a boat filled the cups of the 6,000 persons who partook of the contents of the mighty punch bowl. Pace Volstead.

ANNIVERSARIES.

The first shipment of fresh salmon from Canada to England was made forty-five years ago today. The fish, frozen and packed in ice, were carried across the ocean in huge refrigerators, reaching Liverpool in good condition.

The first important organization of dairymen, the British Dairy Farmer's Association, was established 48 years ago today, holding large exhibition in London. The first great war for religious toleration in Germany was ended 276 years ago today by the Treaty of Westphalia.

The destruction of life and property in the "Thirty Years War" was tremendous and caused a century of retardation in the progress of Germany.

PETRARCH'S LAURA.

In the first days of April, 1348, over 576 years ago, Laura de Noves, the heroine of Petrarch's amatory poetry died at Avignon. Laura was not yet twenty years of age when they first met, and Petrarch was twenty-two.

She was a married woman, but that did not prevent the poet from bestowing on her a devotion that continued to her death, more than twenty years afterwards. Laura was the theme of a series of sonnets which have made the name of Petrarch immortal.

Although her fame was thus spread all over Italy, it did not add to her happiness, for her husband, jealous of her, was enraged by the celebrity given his spouse by the poet. He had no cause for complaint in her actions, for she remained faithful to her marriage vows, and bore him ten children. The constant persecution and brutality of her jealous husband ended only with her death, which was due to the plague.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius.

A Common Desire.

It is reported that the Prince of Wales would marry a Canadian or an American girl if he could have his way, but why make a fuss about that? Plenty of older men than the prince have similar inclinations.

"You seem to be very fond of jazz music."

"Yes, I like it best of all. You don't have to put on formal attire when you listen to it. nobody asks you who wrote it, and you don't have to pretend you understand it."

No girl should teach more than three years in one town. If she can't get a husband in that time, it is a waste of time to stay on.

The Bitters Bitten.

A couple of motorists, riding near a farm orchard, stopped the car, got out, climbed the wall and gathered half a peck of rosy apples. To complete the "joke" they slowed down as they went by the farm house and called out to the proprietor:

"We helped ourselves to your apples, old man; thought we'd tell you."

"Oh, that's all right," the farmer called back. "I helped myself to your tools while you were in the orchard."

A Surprise.

He (over the phone)—What time are you expecting me?
She (tightly)—I'm not expecting you at all.
He—Then I'll surprise you.

How It Started.

He—Remember when we first met in the revolving door at the post office?

She—But that wasn't the first time we met.
He—Well, that's when we started going around together, wasn't it?

Though a good many cars get smashed at grade crossings, what usually suffers worst in it are the nuts.

Laugh.

Build for yourself a strong box. Fashion each part with care; Fit it with lid and padlock. Put all your troubles there.

Hide therein all your failures. And each bitter cut and quip; Lock all your heart-aches within it. Then sit on the lid and laugh.

Tell no one of its contents. Never its secrets share; Drop in your cares and worries. Keep them forever there.

Hide them from sight so completely The world will never dream half; Fasten the top down securely, Then sit on the lid and laugh.

The end of a perfect day is the first day of the month with no bills received.

The reason some heads never get a call to higher things is because opportunity never knocks on wood.

If you must buy watered stock, buy something on four legs and water it yourself.

More dead cities of the Nile are being discovered. Doubtless the ones that didn't advertise.

When Liberty Party
Figured in Politics

The Liberty party was organized in 1844, and its candidate for the Presidency in the campaign of that year was James G. Birney, originally of Kentucky, but then of New York. Birney was editor of the Philanthropist, an abolitionist journal of that day, who organized the Liberty party and named himself as its candidate. Like other "personally conducted" parties, its life was brief. In the campaign of 1848 it was merged into the Free Soil party and later that and such remnants of the Whig party as were left were absorbed by the new Republican party says the Detroit News.

The election of 1844 was interesting because of several circumstances. It was a time of violent argument, of high feeling, and was marked by many and strange changes in alignment. It marked, too, the last appearance of Clay as a candidate for the Presidency, when he polled his largest vote and came within 38,000 votes of defeating Polk and achieving his life's ambition. Clay was a candidate in 1820, again in 1832, and for the last time, after twenty years' trying for the unobtainable, in 1844.

TRENTON'S SAILORS KILLED IN NEW TWIN-MOUNT TURRET.

This is the new type twin-mount turret containing the six-inch guns on the United States scout cruiser Trenton, where several sailors were killed in a powder explosion on her final trial trip off the Virginia Capes. News dispatches say others were blown overboard when the access door to the turret gave way and then fell into the sea because the swing of the turret brought the door over the side of the ship. It will be noted that such is the case in this photograph, which was taken when the six-inch rifles were set to fire a broadside. The ship was commanded by Captain E. C. Kableus.

Kansas Reminded of Home by Gale at Sea

The man from Kansas was making trip across the Atlantic, and during the passage the weather was extremely boisterous. One morning when it was blowing great gusts the Kansas appeared on deck. Nobody was in sight except the captain.

"Go below, there," he shouted. The passenger looked around to see whom he was talking to.

"You mean me?" he yelled back then he saw there was no one else in sight.

"Of course, I do; go below," and the captain came alongside.

"Well, I guess not," protested the Kansas. "I'm up here to see how you get your 'mountain high' waves and 'wild gales' compared with what we have in Kansas in the way of cyclones. This ain't a patch to what I've seen out our way."

Before the captain could offer the objection a big green wave came rolling over the place where the Kansas stood, and the next moment he was swept off his feet and carried aft over ropes and boats and all the paraphernalia of a ship's deck and landed in a heap in a corner where he was saved from being washed overboard. When they got him up he had a broken leg, a twisted shoulder, a sprained wrist, his face looked as if he had been dragged backward through a briar patch and he was unconscious. They carried him to the captain's room and after much effort restored him to consciousness. He lay around a minute in bewilderment, and his eyes fell on the captain.

"By grace, Cap," he said feebly "that reminded me of home, only it was a darn sight wetter."—Detroit Free Press.

How It Happened

Little Mary Ellen Flick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Flick, is considerably talented in terpsichorean art. She dances morning, noon and night and of her many accomplishments in this line she is especially proud of her high kicking.

"Mary Ellen, what makes that little by down the street so shy these days?" her mother asked the other day.

"Well, mamma, the other day I was doing a high-kicking dance and he—just got in my way."—Houston Post.

Lilac Leads All Perfumes

Among the purchasers of perfume, lilac is said to hold first place as the favorite scent. Violet is a close second. White rose and cologne water have entirely lost their great prestige of other days.

Trimming Applied in Lavish Manner

Paris Designers Use Ornaments and Garnitures in Large Variety.

Trimming, declares a fashion writer in the New York Times, will have a vogue this season. Some of the leading Paris designers are applying it lavishly, and trimmings, ornaments and garnitures in large variety are shown in the best shops. Wide bandings on which are applique or embroidered bold designs in vivid colors, and metal studded with brilliants or colored stones will be seen on afternoon and evening gowns and wraps.

In girdles, ornaments and motifs in many forms are shown entirely new patterns in the workmanship and the flashiest effects. They are made in large medallions, deep points, bandings, fringed ornaments, in rhinestones and pearls and in numberless original combinations.

A graceful trimming in brilliants with points of cut jet is shaped like a deep oval bertha and forms the finished top of a black velvet gown in stunning fashion. No other touch of trimming is needed to give this dinner gown a rich appearance.

On another, a Vionnet model in chiffon for dancing, the godets of the flaring skirt are outlined with every narrow trimming, a single row of rhinestones. There is a separate belt of the same jeweled banding an inch wide.

In trimmings for frocks among the styles from Paris, an evening gown to be made of chiffon, satin, crepe or any other soft material in pale flesh color will have two large ornaments, one at each side of the belt in front. These are in several shades of orchid, with a silver thread running through the pattern and forming something in the shape of a giant wild rose. On another model, a dancing frock from an important designer, are two large, flat, round ornaments, one at the waistline, the other just at the hip where the drapery is slightly lifted.

These decorative points are of the very latest embroidery, a blending of several colors in different materials, chenille, wool, silk floss and metal thread. The pattern is ultramodern, almost cubist in character, and the colors are usually very bright, in daring combinations and primitive contrasts.

An ornament that is especially suitable for evening dress has a touch of ostrich combined with this new embroidery, with ribbon or rhinestones, and ostrich is seen more and more in large motifs, light as thistle-down, and in some way made sparkling with metal or jewels to form a high light on an airy dancing frock.

A novelty in the trimming of shoes is the little butterfly bow. It has become so popular as a finish to all the low shoes now fashionable as almost to supplant the buckle. A bow of ribbon is seen on the latest and smartest low shoes, particularly the tie and the pump, serving as a practical means of tying the low oxford, which is now considered most chic in the short vamp model.

Now that the comfortably heeled shoe is style, this is quite practical, and the tied bow of grosgrain ribbon serves both as support and ornament.

Winsome White Blouse With Gay Touch of Red

White crepe de chine is used to make this charming blouse which is relieved by a jabot of red print.

Bracelets and Bangles Not Worn in Numbers

Bracelets and bangles are no longer worn in wholesale numbers. It is the newest fashion to wear but one bracelet, and that one of significance. The idea is repeated from an old style, that of wearing a pair of matched bracelets, or one quite wide and designed to express the individual style of the wearer. Treasure chests are being searched for quaint old bits, among which are bracelets of gold finely chased and enameled and set with precious stones; lovely old and twisted and braided circlets, and bands that were ornamented with painted medallions, cameos and miniatures.

Dozens of narrow jangling bracelets of gold or silver or platinum, glass or quartz that covered the arm from the wrist almost to the elbow are now passe, and the one bracelet important enough to form a conspicuous feature of the costume is the latest fad.

Many Volcanic Craters in the United States

When we think of volcanoes we generally associate them with some foreign country, but here in our own domain we have within a comparatively restricted area a group of 63 volcanic craters. This is in Idaho and the place is called the "Craters of the Moon," because the landscape is so cold looking and so barren of vegetation that it resembles the landscape of the moon as it seems to us when viewed through a telescope. While it is barren it is not without color, for there is considerable variation in the tints of the ground which is covered with the "frozen" lava which flowed from these craters a few hundred years ago. There is one field which is called the Blue Dragon which is lava of a beautiful aurean tint and with a polish as if it had been varnished. There are cracks in the deposit at regular intervals and all of similar shape, which makes the mass resemble the scales of a great dragon. These volcanic mounds are of various heights and some of interesting formation, with considerable variation as to color. This field is about three miles wide and thirty long and has been recently dedicated to the purposes of a public park. While it is not exactly accessible, it is not a difficult place to get at and at the present time it is little known. It is located between Cary and Arco.

Rich Man Might Better Have Forgotten Penny

In his "Quer Things About London," Mr. C. G. Harper tells the following story: On the north side of Piccadilly is that famous labyrinthine warren of exceedingly select bachelor chambers, dating from about 1804, and known to most people as "The Albany."

By the smart set who reside there, however, it is accounted absurd to speak or write of "The Albany." If you perpetuate that grave error, you cannot be "one of us."

Albany has always been affected, as a place of residence, by men of rank and fashion. Herein dwelt the millionaire Baron Meyer de Rothschild, and coming from his luxurious chambers one day he dropped a penny on the pavement outside.

He sought long and anxiously for the coin; but vainly, for it had rolled down a grating. Resuming an upright position, he remarked sadly on the fleeting nature of riches. Meanwhile a pick-pocket had relieved him of his watch.

Small Hat With High Square Crown Is Liked

Happily for all concerned, several new styles have taken the place of the little bell-shaped hat in the affections of the wearers. The tiny hat still rules supreme, and no wonder, for it seems to fit the tubular outline to perfection. The small hat with a high square crown is one of the newest and best liked hats of the moment, and these are seen with the brim turned up in front or in back, or with a trim that is straight.

Combined With Black

Royal blue and white are the colors most frequently combined with the fashionable black. Flat crepes and the satin back crepes predominate.

The Word "Jovial"

The word "Jovial" conceals the name of Jupiter, or Jove, according to the Washington Post. A "Jovial" person is theoretically, at least, a person born under the influence of the planet Jupiter, or Jove.

The planet was supposed to be the most joyful of all the planets to be born under, just as Saturn is the least joyful.

Gradually the word "jovial" became dissociated from the astrological significance, and was generally applied to persons who indicated the quality of joyfulness ascribed to birth under a joyful planet.

Thus many a word in the English language in common use, traces its origin to mystic beginnings and hovers in the darkness of the past.

Don't let constipation make you an invalid —relieve it with Kellogg's Bran

Few people realize how dangerous constipation is until this dread disease tears down their health. Did you know that more than forty serious diseases can be traced to constipation? Keep your health, or restore it, with Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krummed. It brings relief in mild and chronic cases of constipation. It is effective because it is ALL bran. That is why it is recommended so highly by doctors. They know that only ALL bran can bring 100 per cent results. Part bran is, at best, only a halfway measure.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran will bring permanent relief—even in the most chronic case. It is guaranteed to do so. If it fails, your grocer will refund your money.

Because it is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. Like nature, it acts naturally. It makes the intestine function regularly.

Eat it every day—two tablespoonfuls—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Enjoy it in the wonderful recipes given on every package.

The flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krummed, is delicious. It is crisp, nutlike. Quite different from ordinary bran, which is so unpalatable. Kellogg's Bran is made in Battle Creek and served by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Sold by all grocers.

Warns Motorists Of Gas Poisoning

Deadly Carbon Monoxide Dangerous to Person Working in Small
Garage While Engine is Running
Without Proper Ventilation.

The newspapers recently carried a news item of the death from carbon monoxide poisoning, of a prominent Baltimore man, who was found dead in his garage with the engine of his automobile still running. With the onset of colder weather such accidents will probably increase in frequency, says the surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service, who warns automobile owners of the danger involved in running a gasoline engine in a small closed space for any considerable period of time.

In tests of the exhaust of a small 22 horsepower automobile engine it has been found that it discharged approximately 25 cubic feet of gas per minute, samples of which gave an average of 6 per cent carbon monoxide, or 1.5 cubic feet of deadly carbon monoxide gas per minute. Of course larger engines will give off more. Now a ratio of 15 parts carbon monoxide to 16,000 parts of air is considered a dangerous concentration to be exposed to for a considerable time; and the small 22 horsepower engine in "warming up" and giving off only one cubic foot of carbon monoxide per minute would contaminate the air of a small closed garage, 10 by 10 by 20 feet, to the danger point in about three minutes.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, tasteless, and almost odorless gas. Its poisonous action depends on the fact that it has a much greater affinity for the hemoglobin of the blood than has oxygen—hemoglobin and carbon monoxide about 200 times as strongly as it does oxygen. By combining with carbon monoxide, the hemoglobin of the red blood corpuscles is prevented from giving up its oxygen to the tissues. Death results from paralysis of the respiratory apparatus.

The attack of carbon monoxide poisoning comes on insidiously, and consciousness is gradually lost. Even though the victim may become aware of the danger he is often unable to escape from it because of the great loss of motor power.

The automobile worker in a small garage is most frequently the victim. It therefore behooves every person who runs his engine in a small garage to see to it that the room is properly ventilated by having the windows and doors opened if he expects to run the engine for even a few minutes.

Absence of Any Sheen Noticeable in Woolens

One noticeable difference in the woolen fabrics this year is the absence of any sheen of any kind whatsoever. The only exception to this is an occasional piece of broadcloth with its smooth satin-like surface. Silks are just the opposite on their surfaces. Satins, bengalines and failles, alpaca and new silks, called by different names, are glossy and lustrous. Satin has not the mirrored effect that is deeper and handsomer looking Bengaline and faille have quite a high finish, while alpaca is more glossy and less likely to wrinkle than it has been.

Both the wool and the silk pile fabrics are much more serviceable than they were when they were first introduced. And when we remember that duvetyne, shortly after the war period, was from $12 to $20 a yard, and none too durable at that, we can see how wonderfully improved both in looks and service all the materials of this nature have become.

Some of the new plaids have a soft wool foundation plaided with a silk thread. One in navy blue plaided in cherry red is very pretty and very smart in a street frock.

Sir Esmé Howard, British Ambassador to the United States, in a speech in New York City, declared the American doctrine of the "open door in international politics" was a policy that would bear future wars.

REPORT SUBMITTED BY THE SECRETARY OF THE HOME SERVICE SECTION, ULSTER COUNTY CHAPTER OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

Mr. Chairman:
It gives me great pleasure to submit the sixth annual report of the Home Service Section of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross. This report includes work accomplished since our last annual meeting, which occurred on October 24th, 1923.

From October 24, 1923, to October 22, 1924, we report as follows:

Visits made to families of ex-service men	45
Office calls from disabled men or their families	147
Letters received and sent	$45
Compensation claims made out, affidavits drawn up in support of same, discharges copied, other forms made out	76
Telegraph and telephone messages received and sent	268
Live Saving Certificates and insignia given out to members of the Life Saving Corps	86
Total number of times assistance has been given in these different ways	1467

Other relief work done by the chapter during the year included a sum of money given by the chapter to the Minnie Hotelling Fund, Albany Association of the Blind. Also a sum being given for the purchase of articles at the sale of the blind, held in this city. These articles were distributed among the needy poor.

Under date of March 11, 1924 a letter was received at the office from the Director of the Life Saving Corps at the Washington Division, in which we were informed that Captain Carroll Lee Bryant would come to Kingston on April 17th in the interest of the National Red Cross Life Saving Organization. They asked to be informed what kind of a program this chapter wished carried out by Captain Bryant. We got in touch with Mr. Miller, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., and Miss Passmore, physical director of the Y. W. C. A., and the head of the police department, and a program was arranged for public demonstration, which resulted in ten demonstrations being given to various organizations in the city, and over 100 boys and girls were taught to swim during the month of April alone, and many others during the summer at various camps in the county.

The certificates all went through this office and were signed by the secretary as a representative of this chapter. Several of the seniors received membership in this chapter, as an award for their proficiency. Last in August a meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A., and was addressed by Judge Joseph M. Fowler, as a representative of the Red Cross. At this time certificates, medals and pins, which were procured by our office from Washington Division, were awarded to the boys and girls winning these trophies.

At our last annual meeting, the case of Mrs. Bertha Duncan, wife of Edward Duncan, war veteran, was discussed. Mrs. Duncan had been abandoned by her husband, and was in very poor health. She was with-out financial resources and an operation was considered necessary by physicians who examined her. An appeal was made to Father Scully, who agreed to having Mrs. Duncan sent to the Benedictine Sanitarium, where she was operated upon, all expenses being met by the Catholic Charities organization. After she was able to leave the hospital, Mrs. Duncan returned to Woodstock, where she had made her home ever since coming to this country. The Red Cross paying her board until she was able to return to her family in France, it being decided that was the best solution of her problems. The Red Cross purchased Mrs. Duncan passage to Paris and procured an escort to take her to the steamer. She sailed on April 19, and on May 12, the secretary received a letter from her stating that she had arrived safely and expressed her appreciation of what the Red Cross had done for her. The total expense of the Red Cross for board and expense of her trip to France totaled $267.66. Remarks: Difficulty in securing passport.

After several years of effort in the case of a tubercular war veteran of this city, who died before his claim was recognized, by the Veterans' Bureau, the bureau has at last decided the case in his favor, and $500.00 accrued compensation has been secured for the aged mother. A claim for a small monthly allowance due the mother on account of the death of her son, has been made by our office and will, we hope, add to her comfort, as she is in very poor circumstances.

Secretary's Report.

It was my very great privilege to attend the Fourth National Convention of the American Red Cross, held in Washington, D. C. from October 6-9 inclusive; delegates from almost every state in the Union were present, and many visitors, over seven hundred in all. Every seat in the auditorium of Memorial Hall was filled on the morning of October 6, the famous Marine Band was playing, when President Coolidge, accompanied by his military and naval aides in uniform; Secretary Hoover, and other members of the cabinet, were escorted to the platform by Judge John Barton Payne, National Red Cross chairman, amid great applause, and the orchestra's "Hail to the Chief." The assemblage standing. President Coolidge then presented the Rt. Rev. William F. McDowell, Bishop of Washington, who offered prayer.

Food is more helpful to hungry people than advice. It is about the only organization I have known that does good by looking for trouble. President Coolidge said further that no better example of the confidence of the American people in their Red Cross could be had, than the lavish response given its appeal for funds to help Japan. As president of the Red Cross I issued an appeal for $5,000,000. More than $11,000,000 was given. The Red Cross had the organization, capable of turning this great overflowing of sympathy of the nation, to the best account.

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the U. S. Vet. Bureau, followed the president. His address was of course very interesting to the delegates as all relief given to the war veterans is authorized from that bureau. Director Hines stated that many of the recommendations passed at previous Red Cross conventions for the benefit of the war veterans had been put in effect either by congressional legislation or by the Veterans' Bureau itself. He said that since 1921 $40,000,000 has been spent for the construction of suitable hospitals; 25 are now completed with an accommodation of 10,000 beds, others under construction are capable of housing 1,760 more patients.

In his address, Judge Payne summed up the activities of the Red Cross as follows: Service to disabled veterans, and to the men in the army and navy, relief in disaster, instruction in first aid, life saving, home hygiene and care of the sick, public health nursing, and the Junior Red Cross program, the latter so important to promote world wide understanding among children, who after all will mean the future of the Red Cross. All these activities were very interestingly presented by representatives of different chapters actively engaged in the work which they described. It is impossible to give an adequate idea of the contribution without making my report too long. Every moment was filled with vital interest for a Red Cross worker.

Foreign and Pan-American Red Cross Service was discussed by the Hon. Rafael H. Elizalde, minister from Ecuador, who told of the growth of the Red Cross in South American countries, particularly in Ecuador, and thanked the Red Cross for help extended to his country during the recent earthquake there. Reference was made to the Pan-American conference held in Buenos Aires last fall, which was attended by Judge Payne. Buenos Aires alone, has an enrollment of about 100,000 members. Many representatives of the diplomatic corps, embassy staffs and their families, were special guests at this session. J. Arthur Jeffers, manager of the Washington Division, warned the delegates against community chest unions, emphasizing that the Red Cross was a membership movement, and that financial federations might weaken the potential membership of the society. The fifth annual convention will be held in St. Louis. This decision was reached at the final business session, after a spirited debate, in which most of the delegates said that they believed Washington should have the convention on alternate years. Mr. Riley of Kansas presented the case of the committee minority, of which he was a member, and moved the substitution of St. Louis for Washington in 1925. He said that the middle west needed the stimulus of such a convention. Discussion about the approaching roll call occupied one of the morning sessions, Douglas Greismer, director of roll call information, presiding; he advocated very strongly the house to house canvass, as the only successful method, especially in smaller cities and rural communities. Publicity was stressed as of utmost importance, many valuable suggestions being given for the same. Just as the delegates were assembling for the Tuesday afternoon session, the great dirigible Shenandoah passed over national headquarters, a reminder to many of the recent war, in which thousands of air craft brought such disaster to civilians in England. The convention ended on Thursday with the most successful one of the four held. Nothing is so cheering and so soul stirring as the contacts at convention time. I wished that every member of the Ulster County Chapter might have been in attendance, had that been possible, a banner roll call would have resulted this fall, I am sure.

Famous Ancient Tapestry
During the year 1748 a quantity of beautifully executed tapestry was discovered in the cathedral of Bayeux, near Connes, France. It is said to be of the Eleventh century, the work of Matilda, wife of William the Conqueror, and ladies of her court. The tapestry, which is 214 feet long and 20 inches wide, contains 72 sections, each of which represents a scene in the life of the Saxon King Harold from the time of his visit to the Norman court to his tragic death in the battle of Hastings. In these scenes are 1,522 figures. In 1803 Napoleon contemplating an early invasion of England, had the tapestry removed to Paris, where it was exhibited at the National museum. The following year it was returned to Bayeux.

Boy Scout Week Begins Sunday

Biggest Week of Scouting for Ulster County From October 26 to November 1—Program and Calendar for the Week.

The Ulster County Council Boy Scouts of America will hold Boy Scout Week from October 26 to November 1, when the biggest week of scouting Ulster county has ever had, is planned. It is hoped that every scout and scoutmaster will do his utmost to make Boy Scout Week the biggest ever held. Attention is called for careful reading of the following program and calendar for the week. An appeal is made to every scout to make a special effort to take part in every event every day.

Following is the calendar for the week:

"A Scout Is Reverent."

All churches have been asked to take part in making this day the biggest Boy Scout Sunday ever had. The council hopes that churches of all faiths will plan special young people's talks in their church services and post special notices regarding the activities of Boy Scout Week. It was suggested that where possible talks by local scout officials be made or demonstrations such as uniformed scouts repeat the scout oath and law.

Arrangements have been made to hold a special Boy Scout service of a non-sectarian nature at the Kingston High School at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The council has been very fortunate in securing as a speaker at this service George Storey, a young man, who was a scout from the 12th birthday until he left New York city to attend Wesleyan College to study for the ministry.

Scout Storey, as Chief Executive Nesslage knows him, was a member of Troop 104, New York, and is thoroughly competent of bringing a real message as he is one of the few men who has come from the ranks of a tenderfoot scout working up to assistant scoutmaster and then scoutmaster of a New York troop.

It is trusted that every scout and his friend as well as every parent and scout official will attend this service.

The public is invited, no charge for admission.

Boy Scout Good Turn Day

On Monday, October 27, every scout and leader is urged to do an especial good turn. Perhaps more than one. The daily good turn that every boy scout does is a big thing in scouting. The following is suggested:

Make your good turn on Monday, one of the best you have ever done. Plan now what that good turn shall be.

Perhaps your patrol or troop will do a big good turn for your church, your school, your community, or to some poor family in your neighborhood.

Detail two or more boys in uniform to the business sections of your village or city for the purpose of rendering any good turns possible. How many good turns can from 500 to 1,000 live boy scouts do in one day?

What will be the best good turn performed? Every real scout will want to take part on this day.

Let headquarters know what you are going to do.

Boy Scout Day in School.

Following are the instructions for Tuesday, October 28th: Call to the attention of the superintendent of schools and principals, Boy Scout Day in the schools.

Scouts should immediately get in touch with their teachers, sisters, principals or sisters superior and find out what they can do towards making Boy Scout Day in schools a success.

A suggestion is to have demonstrations by scouts of signalling life saving, first aid, knot tying, etc. The scout oath and law given by scouts at assembly.

Unusual programs will be given. Let headquarters know what you are planning to do.

Boy Scout Day at the Hospitals.

Wednesday after school, one scout in uniform from every troop is requested to report at scout headquarters, 112 Broadway, to assist with the distribution of flowers to all patients in all hospitals. At the hospitals the scouts will present each patient with a flower and a word of good cheer with a hope they will soon be well.

This is a splendid demonstration of the Scout slogan: "Do a Good Turn Daily." Leaders are directed to see that the scout from his troop comes in full uniform and that he reports at headquarters promptly after school on Wednesday.

Boy Scout Recruiting Day.

Thursday, scouts are expected to look around and choose an A-1 fellow as a recruit for his troop. Scout leaders, get an A-1 fellow over 21 years to become a scout leader. Such scouts can join troops right away as soon as they have completed their tenderfoot tests. Such new leaders can plan to take the scout leaders training course, which will begin very shortly.

How many new scouts and new scout leaders can your troop get? By a little effort on the part of every member on this day the organization can be practically doubled. Will your troop help make this possible?

Boy Scout Day With Dad.

Friday is expected to be the red letter day of the week for the scouts' dads.

The goal is to have every father spend the afternoon after school and evening with his son. Dads and sons will enter into or renew a relation of comradeship.

In the afternoon it is suggested that dads and sons take a hike or outing. If time does not permit or weather is bad, Dad is urged to take his son to an entertainment in the evening. A program of games that the boys are fond of can be indulged in.

This is also a day of confidential talks between dads and sons.

This should be one of the big days of the week. Help make it so.

Scout Craft Day.

On Saturday every scout in the county is requested to be out on this day in uniform, erect at a central point in each community a community scout overnight camp. Cook meals, give scout demonstrations, exhibits and contests. This day with a little thought as to the kind of a program that will fit in your locality as well as the kind of a program your scouts can put over should make a fitting windup for the week. The scout executive will be very glad to assist in outlining a program should any want his help.

On account of so many new scouts in the county there is a large number non-uniformed. These boys should be allowed to take part along with their troops.

IDLE PEDESTRIANS WATCH CHESTNUT CLIPPING

Because Ulster county chestnuts are a thing of the past many pedestrians stop at the corner of Wall and John streets to watch "Jim" the peanut and popcorn vender clipping the top and bottom of chestnuts which he is preparing to roast on his stand. The chestnuts come from Maryland and because of their scarcity bring a high price at wholesale. A score or more years ago chestnuts grown in Ulster county and vicinity could be purchased here wholesale at from $3 to $4 a bushel but today they are extremely scarce. There were many chestnut trees in this section but most of them have been killed by a blight.

What the Dial Was For

"I see that you don't know how to tune this set," the friend observed, as he began adjusting the knobs. "But don't let that worry you, old man, we all have to learn, you know. Now," he continued, "did you notice the increased volume of sound as I turned the last dial? Just put the finishing touches on reception, as it were. Of course, one cannot teach you the whole game of reception at one sitting, but I will say this much—you would do well to pay particular attention to that dial if you want good quality and plenty of volume. That is one of the most sensitive controls. Condenser, I suppose?"

"No, BPH," replied the host. "You see, it is like this: I bored an extra hole in the panel by mistake and I put a knob there to hide it. It does not control anything, except the imagination."—Wireless Age.

Unsuited for Discipline

An Irish attorney who was very lame was moved during the time of trouble in Ireland to take part in military preparations. Learning that among the various volunteer corps being raised was one of lawyers, he decided to join it.

"My dear friend," he remarked to John Philpot Curran, the Irish wit, "these are not times for a man to be idle; I am determined to join the lawyers' corps and follow the camp."

"You follow the camp, my little limb of the law?" said Curran. "Tut! Tut! Renounce the idea; you never can be a disciplinarian."

"And why not, Mr. Curran?"

"For this reason," was the reply; "the moment you were ordered to march you would halt!"—Youth's Companion

Rearing Trout in England

Some of the quaintest passengers ever carried by the railway companies may be seen just now at some north country stations. Swimming about in big iron tanks, there are baby trout which angling associations in Yorkshire and Lancashire are importing to restock their fishing waters.

Ranging from ten weeks to two years old, they vary in length from four to ten inches. They have all been hand-reared in some of the Cumberland or Northumberland hatcheries, and, despite the railway journey, they arrive so tame that they will feed from the hand, says London Tit-Bits.

After a month in their new home, however, they will be wild enough to provide all the sport the most enthusiastic angler can desire.

Most Common Metal

Iron is the metal most used by man, yet the metal which is by far the commonest in the earth's crust is not iron, but calcium. Forty per cent of limestone is calcium, says London Tit-Bits.

Calcium is a very light metal, easily hammered, easily drawn out into wire and almost as pretty in color as gold. Why, then, you may ask, do we not make more use of it?

There are two reasons; the first is that it is very difficult to isolate from its ores, but the second is worse. When isolated, let the merest drop of moisture touch calcium and it fizzes away into alkali lime. The present price of calcium is about twenty times that of gold.

Odd Epitaphs Seen in Old Graveyards

In accordance with his wishes the grave of Henry Long in Massachu setts is marked by a stone on which is inscribed, "Henry Long, I still live." A hard-headed, matter-of-fact friend who questioned this statement left it unaltered with this: "James Maguire, dead, and I owns up to it."

On the stone marking the spot where reposes all that is mortal of Doctor Walker, author of "Walker's British Particles," is inscribed, "Here lies Walker's Particles." A similar punning effect is exhibited by the epitaph of one Doctor Fuller, "Fuller's earth." Equally brief and without touched by a bit of grim humor is the inscription over the grave of Thomas Magnus, "Finis, Magnus."

Bill Nye, the humorist, once ran across a monument on which this inscription was neatly lettered: "Here we have a widow here; Richard on the right and Tom on the left." He suggested that the couplet might have been improved by the addition of the following: "And if she had outlived a couple of more she could have had one behind and another before."

One cannot be quite certain what the bereaved husband had in mind when he composed this epitaph for his departed spouse: "This dear little spot is the joy of my life—it raises my flowers and covers my wife." Somewhat more pointed is this posthumous gibe: "Here lies in silent clay Miss Arabella Young, who on the 21st of May began to hold her tongue."

On a stone under which sleeps Jonathan Oakes is this terse, matter-of-fact inscription: "Here lies the body of Jonathan Oakes, who lived and died like other folks." The son of a deceased tavern keeper brought down two birds with one stone when he set the stone over his parent's grave and had cut into it these lines: "Beneath this stone in hope of Zion is laid the landlord of the Lion. Resigned unto the heavenly will his son keeps on the business still."—Kansas City Star.

The Little Things

SCHOOL DAYS

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

SELF-MADE HAPPINESS

WHATEVER it may be with regard to your bonny-faced friends, their content and easy conscience, the idea that you cannot be as happy and carefree as they, is usually misleading.

To make one's self happy ought to be one's chief purpose in life, quite apart from the thought of wealth or station. There is no sense in going around with sour faces, hard-drawn lips and creased foreheads.

Why carry gloom about with you, when it lies within your natural power to diffuse sunshine among others, and bask in sunshine yourself?

The habitual grouch, the man and woman who are continually finding fault with the weather, imagining ills and seeking every opportunity they can conjure up to air their grievances, are not adept at making friends or keeping them.

They have no passionate kindness, no essence of love, no magnetic qualities of heart or soul, so they run mad, and in their frenzies become a menace to their intimates and all the world.

They may tell us that happiness cannot be self-made, yet they belie this affirmation by exhibiting their ability to make themselves miserable.

If this same force were exercised as it should be, it would be found equally capable of producing geniality, gladness, animation, hopefulness and high spirits.

And herein is the evidence that everybody has the substance within him to create his own happiness.

That we mortals should waste our years in ignorance of this patent truth is difficult to understand. We censure others for our dismal and doldrums, continue to mope, brood and sulk, instead of flinging open the doors of our dark castles and stepping forth into the cheerful, life-giving sunshine, flooding the heavens and importuning us to enjoy it.

When we once understand this, we shall wake up some delightful morning and find ourselves in an arcadia of our own creation, beautiful, lovely and inspiring beyond our fondest dreams.

And then, we shall all be strolling down the lovers' lane, supremely happy in the happiness of our own making, and, not impossible, we might find ourselves on the edge of heaven itself!

Has a man like this proposed to you?

Symptoms: Active, alert, attractively homely, homespun, full of bursting power with social uplift, knows wage statistics of the world, earning capacity of different trades, statistics of health and wealth—and there isn't anything that he hasn't made a survey or investigation of. He works like a dog—hardly has any time to be sociable.

IN FACT

He is too social to be sociable. Prescription to the bride: R. Drug him to jazz concerts, high power of plonies, vacations and "movies."

ABSORB THIS: Unsociability often wrecks social work.

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN LOWLAND

AFTER all, Heaven is just a vision of the Heart's Desire—and it is pretty safe to judge a man by his idea of Paradise.

The most interesting woman in the world, to a man, is the bad little girl with one virtue or the good little girl with one vice.

Very often, the girl who could offer a man "the real goods" in all those wifely qualities he so admires, loses him for lack of "good salesmanship."

When a married pair reach the quarrelsome stage, they can't be deterred by a little thing like the lack of a casual bell; if they can think of nothing else, they can scrap quite merrily as to who has the sweeter disposition.

A girl doesn't encourage her suitor to ask Father's consent, nowadays; not because she's afraid Father won't be able to control his temper, but because she's afraid he won't be able to restrain his enthusiasm.

It is quite possible that the most persuasive thing the Serpent said to Eve was, "How can you be happy in this place—with nothing to worry about, nobody to make you suffer?"

Somehow, the moment a man has surrendered the key of his heart to a woman, he begins to think about changing the lock.

Alas, why is it that as soon as a man and woman begin to love each other, they begin to think up ways of making each other suffer for it?

FLUTTERBIES

I HAVE been reading the report of the commission formed to consider the greater possibilities of aviation for commercial and domestic purposes.

My prophetic instincts have been aroused and I foresee, in the future, announcements such as these in our newspapers:

"LADY—Five in family, requires an aviator. Must be a careful flyer, an early riser, and fond of needlework. Low altitudes. One who would occasionally assist in nursery preferred. $25 a week and use of plane. Mrs. B., etc."

Extract From the "Lonely Hearts"

Column: In reply to Melissande, we would advise her to be extremely careful about forming premature acquaintanceship with strange aviators. But as she says it is extremely difficult to cut a man dead after one has wept on his shoulder. While making all due allowances for a little natural hysteria on the part of an aviator who has fallen out of her machine, we do not think the man was entirely to blame for thinking she enjoyed the close proximity of his shoulder. However, we are sure no gentleman would seek to follow up such an unconventional adventure, uninvited.

From the Same: No, Joyce, we do not think the aviator in the Gnome machine is in love with you because he waved his goggles to you as you were milking the cows. See first part of answer to Melissande. It is possible that from such a great height you were indistinguishable from the poor dumb creatures under your care. Moreover, he may be a lover of cows.

Card in a Delicatessen Window: "If the lady who flew over San Remo on Third Avenue last Monday morning and dropped her grip (initials N. A. S.), containing among other things, a box of candy, a powder puff, and a pair of silk stockings, cares to apply for same, it will be returned to her on paying damage done to cucumber fronds." Iron has been added to put more red in the blood. Get the genuine Burdock's Cod Liver Oil and Iron Tablets and be sure to specify damage done to cucumber fronds. (© McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Peter Norbeck, U.S. Senator From South Dakota, Will Give Help To Leaders Of Republican Campaign

Executives of the Republican National Committee are giving every consideration to the desires and advice of party leaders throughout the country, in handling the numerous problems of the national campaign.

To this end they have named an Advisory Committee composed of thirty-two men and women high in the party councils, and in selecting to them have given representation to all sections of the country.

One of those who is giving the committee his valued services is Senator Peter Norbeck, of South Dakota, from whom there are few more sincere and better informed Republicans.

Senator Norbeck was elected from Redfield in 1920 by a substantial majority over both his

Gauls Conceded to Be First Makers of Soap

Made from goat's tallow and beechwood ashes, the earliest forms of soap were used by the ancient inhabitants of Germany to give a reddish color to the hair, according to the records of the historian, Pliny the elder. Although mixed into hard and liquid material, it was not known as a cleansing substance, but was often employed in the treatment of skin troubles.

The Gauls, it is said, introduced it into other parts of the world. Today the yearly production in the United States is estimated to be two and one-half billion pounds. Not until about the Second century of the Christian era was the product used as a cleansing article, it is claimed, and an ancient factory for manufacturing the material unearthed in the ruins of Pompeii still contained a quantity of it in a good state of preservation.

Northern Spain and Marseilles later became the chief centers of the industries and produced large amounts of the Castile variety from olive oil and lye. Earlier accounts of the existence of soap among Asiatic peoples are believed to refer to some kinds of mixtures which were devoted to purposes entirely apart from those of dyes or cleansing substances.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Jordan to Head Campaign for "Y"

Well Known Y. M. C. A. Secretary Will Meet Chairman and Committee-men November 6—Various Y Activities Appreciated.

The Y. M. C. A. building has proven to be in the right location. It is easily accessible from all parts of the city and has ample parking space near by. The building was erected in 1912 and like the majority of associations receives about two-thirds of its regular budget in membership fees and rentals. The other third of the budget is given in subscriptions by the loyal citizens of the city and vicinity. In previous years the directors have secured this difference but owing to the multiplicity of duties in their own line of work they saw the necessity of getting the cooperation of the members and friends in putting over this canvass successfully.

At a recent meeting of the directors it was voted to raise $10,000 for current expense and that a Y. M. C. A. man from the financial committee should conduct this canvass as the best results are accomplished with the least expenditures. A telegram has been received from Thomas R. Jordan, who has been a Y. M. C. A. secretary for 20 years. He will be in charge of the campaign and the time is set for the first meeting of the chairman and committee-men for Thursday evening, November 6th. The citizens of Kingston realize the tremendous asset that the Young Men's Christian Association is to a city of this size. At the time that the building was erected it was understood that the general receipts would not cover the cost of operation and that each year substantial subscriptions would be needed to make up the difference. This has been done year by year and there already has been good response in initial gifts toward this year's current expense.

The public are cordially invited to visit the association and watch the various activities in its different departments.

Redbird Got Its Name From Church Dignitary

At first thought it is difficult to see the relationship between the common redbird, or cardinal, and the hinges of the front door. The explanation is simple enough, however, when the words are traced to their source. The redbird was originally called a cardinal because his plumage bore the coloring of the hat and cassock of a cardinal of the Roman Catholic church. The use of the word "cardinal" as denoting a dignitary of the church came about through the poetic fancy of an early pope, who spoke of the cardinals as "the hinges by which all things are moved" in connection with church government. In the Latin language "cardo, cardinis," is the equivalent of the English "hinge." For this reason the dignitary was called a cardinal, as signifying his function as one of the "hinges" of the church. From this early usage "cardinal" came to be applied to anything of prime importance, including the cardinal numbers, the cardinal virtues. The use of the word as applying to a color came about from the fact that the color was the striking feature of the dress of a cardinal. This explains the use of the word in naming the redbird.

Lapps Contented With Few Creature Comforts

No one knows when the Lapps came into Sweden, but for centuries this queer little people, a branch of the Mongol tribe, have wandered about the mountains with their reindeer, living a more or less nomadic life and holding their own in population, although not increasing in any number. During the summer months, when the reindeer are on the move, the Lapp contents himself with a birch-pole tent covered with canvas or turf, so that it may readily be moved from place to place. Some of the homes have modern comforts, but as a rule the Lapp contents himself with very little, says the Baltimore Sun.

In autumn the young reindeer are marked on the ear with their owner's name. At this time there is a gathering of all the tribes, and, though to a stranger all reindeer look exactly alike, a Lapp will point out his own in the herd with unfailing knowledge. Nor does a Lapp remove his neighbor's mark.

A Man's Prayer

Teach me that 60 minutes make an hour, 16 ounces a pound, and 100 cents a dollar. Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience and untroubled by the faces of those to whom I may have brought pain. Grant that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and in earning it I may do unto others as I would have them do unto me. Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money. Blind me to the faults of other fellows and reveal to me my own. Guide me so that each night when I look across the table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal. Keep me young enough to laugh with little children and sympathetic so as to be considerate of old age. And when comes the day of darkening shades make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: "Here lies a man."—Herrington Sun.

Historic Battle

The name Battle of the Giants is given to a battle fought at Marignano (now Malesgusa), near Milan, September 13-14, 1515, between the allied French and Venetian forces under Francis I of France and the Italians and Swiss, commanded by the duke of Milan. The battle was hotly contested and resulted in a victory for Francis. The total number of slain is said to have exceeded 20,000. Trivulzio, who had been present at 18 pitched battles, called them all child's play as compared with this "battle of giants."

Life Devoted to Chess

Romance centered round the life of John Henry Blackburne, the noted chess player, who died recently in England at the age of eighty-two. In his youth he was employed in a hosiery store, but was discharged because he oversteered his leave while chess playing in London. He then devoted himself to his favorite game, and when he toured the country his brilliance soon found reward, for he was hailed as a chess genius. While in his prime Blackburne met all wizards of the board. Two years ago, when eighty years old, he played 20 games simultaneously in London, winning nine, drawing ten, and being beaten in one by a woman.

Question Power Of Commissioner

Legal Battle at Albany To Test Power of Motor Vehicle Head To Suspend License of Automobile Owner—Suspension of Colonel Bowen's License, Results in Trial.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Oct. 24.—A legal battle which may be carried to the highest court in the state to test the power of the State Motor Vehicle Commissioner to suspend the license of an automobile owner, has been started in this city.

Recently Deputy Commissioner of Motor Vehicle Hennessey suspended the license of Col. F. S. Bowen because of an accident in which Bowen's car figured several weeks ago.

Col. Bowen has retained Attorney Walter V. Cogan of Albany, to test the power of the motor vehicle commissioner. Cogan said today he would carry the fight to the Court of Appeals, if necessary, in order to get a ruling on the power of the commissioner in these cases.

While the licenses of several motor vehicle operators have been suspended or revoked since the new law went into effect on July 1, the Bowen case is the first where the operator has carried his fight to the courts.

Officials of the motor vehicle bureau are confident that the commissioner, under the law which was enacted by the last Legislature, has the right to suspend or revoke licenses. They claim that should this right be taken from the commissioner by a court decision it would virtually have the effect of wiping out all the good that is expected to be accomplished through the new statute.

Col. Bowen was driving his car at the time it collided with a bus. At the hearing before Deputy Commissioner Hennessey, testimony was given to the effect that the Colonel was driving on the wrong side of the road.

After making a personal investigation, Hennessey revoked the license held by Col. Bowen.

The motor vehicle bureau will be represented in the legal fight by a lawyer to be assigned by Attorney General Carl Sherman.

Hi Y Hears of "Old Kingston"

At the regular meeting of the Hi-Y Club held Wednesday evening, at the Y. M. C. A., Professor Cullen of School No. 3, was the principal speaker of the evening. To the delight of his hearers Mr. Cullen spoke of "Old Kingston." In his reminiscences the speaker told of the great rivalry between Ulster and Kingston Academies, especially of the annual football games played on Thanksgiving Day. The speaker's remarks at times were very humorous, especially when he described the work of the constables, as there were no police in his young life. Sections known as Shanty Hollow, Higginsville, Ponckhockie and Wilbur in the days gone by, were also described.

The "One-Hoss" Shay

"My grandfather and grandmother once hired an antiquated four-wheeler, driven by a man even older than the cab, whose horse was a greater age than all of them combined, to pay a Sunday afternoon call in a London square nearby. On its funeral way from house to house, the bottom fell out of the cab, and as the aged man on the box was too deaf to hear the by no means unviolent expostulation of the hot-tempered old gentleman and the cries of his small and timid spouse, there was nothing for them to do but to run along inside. The laughter of those who gazed with an abandonment of joy at this most unusual sight must have done much to break the gloom of that early Victorian Sabbath."—From "Unwritten History," by Cosmo Hamilton.

Believed Part of It

The men and officers of the navy are known all over the world for their smart appearance, and it was for this reason that one of the officers on board a battleship was rather disgusted at the untidy appearance of a certain midshipman.

One morning the "middy" strolled into the wardroom wearing a collar that was, to say the least of it, extremely soiled. This was too much for the officer and he decided to tackle the young man on the matter.

"Look here," he said, "you ought not to come in here wearing a filthy collar like that round your neck."

"Filthy, sir," replied the midshipman. "I assure you this collar was washed ashore only yesterday."

"I don't doubt that," was the quiet reply, "but from which wreck?"

New Dish

The young man who was accustomed to having an early breakfast every day was absent one morning, having gone to see his wife off on an early train.

Returning to the house some time later he said to the cook:

"Well, Jane, I have no spouse this morning."

"Tain't my fault, suh," she replied indignantly. "I sho' cooked it for you But you jes' wouldn't come eat it."

Will Not Destroy External Parasites

No Preparation Effective in Food or Drinking Water.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

So far as is known by any of the scientists of the United States Department of Agriculture who have been testing the claims of certain manufacturers of lice, mite and blue-bug preparations, there is no preparation made that can be fed to poultry in the food or drinking water that will kill external pests or parasites. There are being advertised and continuously offered to the poultrymen numerous misbranded preparations for use in this way by manufacturers who are either entirely ignorant of the physiology of a chicken or grossly unscrupulous. These preparations are sold for the most part directly to consumers by parcel post.

Most of the products so advertised are composed of various combinations of such chemicals as sulphur, charcoal, calcium sulphide, capsicum, sodium carbonate, naphthalene, sand, kerosene, calcium polymephid, and other ingredients. The insecticide and fungicide board has recently made tests of a number of these mixtures and reports that in no single instance has one been found to give the effect claimed for it. The board further states that it is of the opinion that it is unlikely that any substance will be found which will control or kill external parasites of chickens when fed in the feed or drinking water.

Tests have not been made of all of the substances advertised against all of the insects named, but it is believed that sufficient evidence has been obtained to prove the extreme unlikelihood of the method of controlling external pests by internal administration of an insecticide.

Potato Growers Should Have Seed Plot Yearly

Every commercial potato grower should get into the habit of growing a seed plot every year. Now is the time to select the seed for this plot. If the seed potatoes are to be taken out of the general field, only uniform tubers from good yielding hills should be selected by hand before the general digging starts. The seed plot tubers so selected should be put away in barrels or crates and stored in a cool, well ventilated place so that the potatoes will be in the best possible condition next spring. Enough potatoes should be selected to grow a plot large enough to supply all of the necessary seed potatoes for both the plot and the field the following year.

Every grower who has had a seed plot properly taken care of will follow this procedure and will then dig the remainder of his plot to be used as seed stock for the general field.

A yearly potato seed plot furnishes an easy and efficient method of obtaining good seed stock, keeping it free from such diseases as black leg, Fusarium wilt and Rhizoctonia, and increasing the yield and quality of the general crop.—A. G. Tolans, chief inspector of the Minnesota potato seed certification board.

Butterfat Test of Jersey

According to a large number of analyses at the different experimental stations in the country the average butterfat test of the Jersey is about 5.35 per cent. Of course, there is a wide variation in different individuals but to be representative of the breed this cow ought to test at least that much. Feed has very little, if any, influence on the butterfat content of the milk.

FARM NOTES

Bacteria on legumes work for nothing and even pay for the privilege.

A peach tree affected with yellows should be destroyed before other trees become infected.

A good way to use summer spare time is to go on some "see and learn" tours to find out how other people do it.

A garden is a beautiful book, written by the fingers of God; every flower and every leaf is a letter.—Douglas Jerrold.

Litter from the poultry house will make good fertilizer. This is a point to remember when cleaning out the poultry house.

A fair-share farm lease is one in which each party contributes to the expenses in the same proportion as he shares in the proceeds.

The true test of civilization is not the census, nor the size of cities, nor crops; no, but the kind of man the country turns out.—Emerson.

If grain prices are to be high this fall, cattle and sheep feeders should select "feeders" capable of consuming rations composed more largely of low-priced roughages, with less grain, than for the last two years.

Physical strength and endurance, knowledge, ingenuity, cleverness, sound reasoning, a good memory, patience, courage, honesty, thrift, friendliness, and love of home, are some of the requirements for complete success as a farmer.

Woman Bemoans Fact of Lack of Chivalry

Chivalry once flourished in this land of ours, but alas, now it is as dead as an Egyptian mummy. It is a lost art—so lost, indeed, that were a man to be observed practicing its rites in this age his friends would tap their foreheads significantly and sadly remark that "poor John is evidently not quite as he should be."

See the crowd dashing after the early morning trains and cars, enjoining a woman writer in London Answers. Do the present-day men stand on one side and help the women on? Oh, dear no! The scene is more like a football match or a free fight, from which the distressed damsel emerges with her hat over one eye, half her hairpins lost and a couple of ribs broken in her umbrella.

The modern "lord of creation" differs considerably from the knights of old.

On arriving at the office, when his typist apologizes for being five minutes late owing to some calamity in the house circle, does he sweetly say: "Oh, don't mention it!"

No, he snaps out: "There's no excuse for you, Miss Smith, you're not a victim of the morning after the night before."

He reaches home in the evening and when his wife desires to unburden herself on the subject of her household worries he insists on taking the floor and holding forth on the lack of appreciation of his great business abilities shown by the managing director.

When the baby cries in the small cold hours of the morning, does he hop out of bed and gently soothe him back to slumber again? Oh, no! He sleepily grunts "What's a woman good for if she can't keep one small kid quiet?"

As a lover, too, the modern young man is sadly lacking. His ancestor of a few generations ago would have fought a duel to death to win a smile from his adored one; but the suitor of today becomes a sulky bear if his lady-love keeps him waiting for five minutes, although he knows only too well gold medals have never been awarded to the fair sex for punctuality.

No; the age of chivalry is dead; but we Twentieth century women have slaughtered it ourselves, so its no use mourning. Through reaching out for votes and equal rights with men we have toppled off those pedestals on which we used to be enthroned.

No longer can we shroud ourselves in a veil of romance and mystery—we've torn it to bits on the golf course and the football field.

Yet sometimes—bend your head and let one modern woman whisper a secret—I'd like to creep back to my deserted pedestal.

Willing to Oblige

One of the best stories of mistreatment and maid is reputed to come from Miss Margaret Bondfield, the prominent labor member of the British parliament. A new maid, raw and fresh from a country village, caused her mistress much worry because she did not know how to answer when spoken to, and never addressed people in the right way. At last, having endured the girl's awkwardness as long as possible, the mistress said to her one day: "Oh, Mary, I do wish you would call me 'mum.'"

Mary looked astonished. For a long time she turned the request over in her slow-working mind; then at length she spoke: "I couldn't do that," she said. "I really couldn't."

"Why not?" asked her mistress patiently. "Why can't you call me 'mum'?"

"Well, you see," hesitated Mary, "that's what I call my mother. But—"

With a sudden flash of joy—"I'll call you 'suntie' if you like."

Ponce de Leon's Search

The story of Ponce de Leon, the Spanish explorer, who came to Florida 400 years ago and roamed the new continent in search of the "Fountain of Youth," and finally perished in the wilderness, is familiar to every high school student.

Now comes Col. L. M. Maus of the United States medical corps, who in an address declared that the place for which De Leon was searching was the Hot Springs of Arkansas. That it was tales of the "healing waters" of these springs brought to the seacoast by adventuring explorers of which history has no record, which came to the ears of the Spanish explorer and sent him into the interior in search for the "Fountain." De Leon's expedition, according to Colonel Maus, was not so fantastic as the school books make it appear.

World's Government

The world is governed by three things—wisdom, authority, and appearance. Wisdom for thoughtful people, authority for rough people, and appearance for the great mass of superficial people who can look only at the outside.—Exchange.
